Cite Sinclair, Five Others In Court Contempt

Justice Siddons Grants Petition Asking Citation Against Sinclair

JURY SHADOWING CAUSED CONTEMPT

Sinclair And Five Principals In Oil Conspiracy Trial Must Answer Citations

By GEORGE E. DURNO
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—Harry F. Sinclair, multi-millionaire oil magnate, two of his business associates, and three officials of the Burns Detective Agency were cited today by Justice Frederic L. Siddons to appear before him on Dec. 5 and show cause why they should not be adjudged in contempt of court.

The citations were issued because of the revelation that Burns private detectives kept the jurors in the trial of Sinclair and Albert B. Fall under "improper surveillance," it having been shown that from the outset of the trial a staff of Burns agents trailed the jurors and delved deeply into their private lives and affairs. Those cited by the government besides Sinclair himself were:

H. Mason Day, vice president of the Sinclair Exploration Co.

A. Sheldon Clark, vice president of the Sinclair Refining Co.

Wm. J. Burns, titular head of the detective agency bearing his name.

W. Sherman Burns, his son.

Charles Veitsch, manager of the Baltimore branch of the burns agency.

Result of Probe.

The citations were requested of the court because of the jury-shadowing activities of the Burns agents, which the government contends was performed at the instance of Sinclair and his representatives. Clark and Day, according to the government, were the "contact men," between Sinclair and the jury trailing Burns agents. Veitsch, the government charges, was the "pay off" man.

Today's action follows a two weeks' grand jury investigation into the alleged jury-tampering in the Fall-Sinclair conspiracy trial. This alleged tampering, combined with "loose talking" by Juror Edward Kidwell, led Justice Siddons to declare a mistrial several weeks ago just as the government had concluded its presentation of evidence.

Gordon's petition was a lengthy document in which he reviewed in detail the events leading up to the de-

Quota Club Home For Working Girls Is Fire Damaged

Loss Of Approximately $1,000 Occasioned By Morning Blaze

FIRE DEVELOPS FROM OVERHEATED HEATER

Matron Of Home Alone In House When Fire Is Discovered

Crawford-Oakridge, home for working girls, recently opened on Atlantic avenue by the New Castle Quota Club, was somewhat damaged about 8:30 o'clock this morning by fire, originating from an overheated condition of the furnace.

Miss Ione Rodgers, hostess, was alone in the home and escaped with flames rolling up through the center stairway of the building.

There were no girls in the home.

Loss About $1,000

The loss is estimated by Assistant Fire Chief H. Clare Stockman at $1,000. The loss is fully covered by insurance.

Members of the Quota Club, active in the management of the home, stated following the fire that the necessary repairs will be made at once, owing to the fact that there have been six girls accepted who are waiting the opportunity to enter it.

Miss Rodgers, hostess, was awakened by the blaze about eight o'clock. She saw the flames rolling past the door of her room. Grabbing some bed clothing for protection against the

Di Rauso Dies From Wounds

Sunday Morning Shooting Proves Fatal; Assailant Not Captured

Anthony Di Rauso, aged 33, 21 East Home street, shot and fatally wounded Sunday morning during a quarrel on South Jefferson street, after an all night drinking party, died this morning about 7:25 o'clock in the New Castle hospital.

Frank Elisco, 519 Electric street, accused by Di Rauso in his dying statement, with being the man who shot him, is still at large, having disappeared following the shooting.

A charge of felonious assault with a revolver was made Monday afternoon before Alderman L. C. Mantz against Elisco by County Detective William Fleming. This will likely be changed to murder during the day.

Sam Lambiaso and Dominick Fratturo, arrested following the shooting by the city police and held as material witnesses, because of the fact that they were with Elisco and Di Rauso, were also taken before Alderman Mantz Monday afternoon by County Detective Fleming. They were charged with being material witnesses and furnished $1,000 bail each for their appearance when wanted.

Coroner J. P. Caldwell was notified immediately following the death of Di Rauso and at nine o'clock, had Dr. S. W. Perry and Dr. J. M. Popp, conduct a post mortem to determine the cause of death.

An inquest will be held later.

HEAVY TOLL IS TAKEN BY HURRICANE IN SPAIN

(International News Service)

MADRID, Nov. 22.—Many deaths and enormous damage to property, crops and shipping marked the toll today of severe storms of hurrican intensity which have swept Southern Spain.

In the Southern provinces all the harvests, principally the olive crops, were almost destroyed.

At Malaga, the gale sunk fifteen fishing smacks and 28 men aboard them were reported missing.

Numerous small vessels were wrecked at Tarrangona and many of them believed sunk with their crews.

An eleven year old boy was electrocuted at Huelva when the wind blew down poles carrying high-tension electric wires. Communication systems were disrupted and several church towers fell before the fury of the gale.

Uprooted trees, shattered windows and flooded streets in the poorer sections followed the wind and rain in Malaga.

FALLS THROUGH BRIDGE SIXTY FEET TO RIVER; ESCAPES SERIOUS INJURY

Enroute from his home in Tulsa, Okla., to Connecticut, Earl Abbott, aged 17, last night about 9 o'clock had an experience at the Baltimore & Ohio bridge over the Shenango river to New Castle Junction, that he will not soon forget.

Out of funds and traveling by freight, he fell through the opening between the B. & O. and P. & L. E. bridges into the river, estimated to be 60 feet below, when he lost his hold on a B. & O. freight car, and lives to tell the tale.

His story follows: "I and another fellow, I had just met, were making a run for an eastbound B. & O. freight at the west end of the big bridge. I had hold of the car and was just about to swing up my foot, when it caught, my hold was loosened, and down I went through the dark space. It took my breath and I thought I was a goner. I landed in the water. It wasn't very deep and when I came to myself, my left knee was hurting so bad that it was some time before I could get out. Finally I walked up the bank and across the bridge and came to a tower. The man there would not believe that I had fallen through the bridge and lived to tell the tale. A young fellow came along, believed my story and took me to the tower, where a first aid bandage was put around my head, which was cut. We then went to the office of Dr. Davis, where my head was fixed up. I suppose my companion caught the train."

The cut on Abbott's head was about an inch and a half deep and into the skull. His left knee was cut and also his right ankle. Apparently no bones were broken. His clothing was torn and wet and his cap was lost.

He was removed from the office of the doctor to the seventh ward fire station and then to the central police station, where his clothing was dried out in the cellroom, the only place available. He expected to resume his journey today.

Chicago Police Kill Gangster

Chicago Detective Head Declares Death To All Gangsters In "War"

THUG TRAPPED BY OFFICERS

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Nov. 22.—Twelve hours after Chief of Detectives William O'Connor of Chicago issued his drastic decree to kill all gangsters, police riflemen brought down the first victim, Frank Herbert, chief lieutenant of Joe Saltis, master racketeer of the Chicago badlands.

Following the attempt made on the life of Chief O'Connor by a gangster who pulled a gun upon him in the chief's own office, the "war" command was issued.

Answering a call that two suspicious characters were seen lurking in an alley-way in a hoodlum neighborhood, Sergeant John Gibbons and his squad rushed to investigate.

The men were ordered to halt. Herbert reached for his waist where a revolver was concealed.

"Get 'em men, fire low!" yelled Gibbons.

Detective guns blazed.

Herbert fell to the muddy pavement, writhing with mortal wounds.

Wood's Resignation Seen As Indication Senator Reed To Be Candidate

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Nov. 22.—Heralded as a testimonial dinner to Col. Eric Fisher Wood of Pittsburgh, the banquet which last night brought nearly 1,000 Republicans to do Col. Wood honor today assumed two-fold political significance.

It marked his passing as chairman of the executive committee of the Republican state committee, and it put the name of Senator David A. Reed directly in the limelight as a candidate to succeed himself in the United States senate.

Col. Wood announced at the dinner that he presented his resignation to W. L. Mellon, chairman of the state committee, to "be free to give the best of my energy" to the interest of Sen. David A. Reed, if the latter is again a candidate for the United States senate.

Observers saw in this move by Col. Wood an indication that Senator Reed again would be a candidate, and a virtual announcement that Col. Wood would direct his campaign.

Col. Wood's announcement came as a distinct surprise to the hundreds who crowded the banquet hall to pay their respects to the Republican leadere. Col. Wood attributed two personal motives for his resignation.

"Serious business interferences and implied hardships for my family and business associates," he said, influenced him in his decision, while his personal friendship for Senator Reed was the other.

"If he (Sen. Reed) consents to return to the senate . . . I would wish to be free to give the best of my energy in any capacity . . . and this I would not feel free to do as chairman of the executive committee."

His position was appointive by W. L. Mellon, who must name his successor.

P.-O. Club Men Assemble Here

Hundred Seventy-Five Attend Meeting At The Castleton Monday Night

ATTORNEY BRAHAM SPEAKER OF EVENING

One hundred and seventy-five members of the Pennsylvania-Ohio club, comprising officials and heads of various departments in addition to employes of the Pennsylvania-Ohio Electric company from Western Pennsylvania and Eastern Ohio attended the monthly banquet of the club last night at The Castleton.

Attorney Walter Braham, New Castle, delivered the main address, his subject being "Public Utilities." In his address he declared the public utilities a marked class and related how the control of the public utilities commenced in England several centuries ago during the days of the great Chief Justice Hale.

It was the chief justice who ruled that "when private property becomes affected with a public use it becomes a public property." Braham traced regulation from this decision to the present day pointing out that now every state in the United States has a public service commission which regulates public utilities.

Must Give Service.

Mr. Braham stressed the fact that no one knows just where the matter of regulation is to stop, and emphasized upon those present that it was largely in the hands of persons similarly employed just what action was taken. As long as service pleases the public there will be little demand for change or new regulation. But when service is not satisfying the public then there will be demand for new regulations and they will likely come.

The banqueteers marched into the spacious Castleton ball room to music by the Penn-Ohio orchestra, New Castle division and after a sumptuous dinner Allan Hughes, president of the club acted as chairman, later turning over the meeting to C. C. Coulthard superintendent, New Castle.

Witnesses Differ In Testimony In Remus Wife Murder Trial

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

COURT HOUSE, CINCINNATI, O., Nov. 22.—Whether George Remus shot and killed his wife, Imogene, with his right hand or his left hand, became an important point in the trial of Remus for murder when conflicting testimony was read into the record today.

Charles Stevens, chauffeur of the "death taxi" in which Mrs. Remus rode to her doom in Eden Park, testified yesterday that Remus had "reached into his right hand pocket just before the shot was fired."

Today William Smith, a Negro plasterer and eye witness to the tragedy, testified under cross examination that Remus held the gun in his left hand.

"The left hand?" asked Attorney Charles H. Ellston of the defense.

"Yes, sir."

Smith said he saw Remus put the gun in his pocket after the shooting and walk calmly away. He said he was only a short distance away and he "was sure glad when the man got out of thar. I stayed perfectly still 'till he got away."

Remus laughed with the spectators over this remark.

The indictment against Remus charges he killed Mrs. Remus with his right hand.

Attorney Carl Bassler of the state said there was no danger of a ruling that the indictment is faulty.

Remus himself said he is left-handed.

Several other witnesses testified during the forenoon, relating details surrounding the tragedy in Eden Park where Remus had followed his wife, dragged her from a taxi and shot and killed her. She was on her way to court to divorce him.

Mr. Linton followed the man to the front of the building and he ran away. He had evidently stolen them from cars in the vicinity. Its fun to go way for a session of play, though you have to get rid of your jack, its fun as I say now and then to go way, but it's much better fun getting back. No matter how short or how long you are gone, you miss the old town and its sights, though it may be a village where you hang your hat, or it may be a town of bright lights. Its your town just the same, makes no difference the size, for that's where your associates are, and there isn't another town just like your own, though you travel and roam wide and far. Yes its quite a delight to step out now and then, and travel some distance away, but the kick of it all is the day you get back, its fine, forty-seven today.

President Asks Boosters To Drop Their Petitions

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—President Coolidge declared today that he hoped that circulation of petitions asking him to run again in 1928 would be discontinued.

It was the second time since his famous "I do not choose to run" statement that he has publicly sought to discourage those who are zealously trying to draft him as the party's nominee.

On an earlier occasion, he rebuked Senator Fess (R) of Ohio, who has been a leader of the draft movement.

The president apparently was nettled by the circulation of the petitions which are being broadcast over New England.

He said he not only did not approve of their circulation, but earnestly hoped that the petitions would be stopped at once. He declared he saw no good that could come of them.

The whole tenor of the president's discussion indicated that he was out of the 1928 race and wanted to squelch all movements to force him to take the nomination.

The statement was made to newspapermen at the regular bi-weekly conference. It was brought forth by the publication in morning newspapers of reports that the petitions were being sent through New York and New England, with the hope that they would finally spread all over the country.

NO PUNCHBOARD SCHEMES BEING USED BY LEGION

A. Edward Russell post commander of the Perry S. Gaston Post American Legion stated today that he had received a number of queries concerning punch board salesmen who were using the name of the Legion.

According to the rumors received by Mr. Russell, unscrupulous individuals are selling chances on punch boards and using the argument that the Legion gets the profits.

The American Legion has nothing whatever to do with such practices. The men in question have no connection with the Legion and citizens of the city will confer a favor upon the local post if the will call Mr. Russell at 2200 if they are asked to purchase chances under the circumstances mentioned.

TWO WOMEN IN BATTLE FOR FORTUNE

kers, N. Y., lays claim to the dead inventor's estate and his invention plans, said to be worth $300,000, on the grounds that she was his first and legal wife.

But Mrs. Sophie Meisterknecht, regarded by neighbors in this small New Jersey town for the last year as Meisterknecht's only spouse, also claims an heirship.

Meisterknecht was living a quiet, small town life with Sophie the day he went into his little shop for the last time. He had just perfected a gasoline gauge which, it was said, would net him $100,000.

Shot While Telephoning

Meisterknecht had reached his goal but had not yet begun to reap his rewards. He was busy on a turbine engine and other inventions calculated to swell that $100,000.

He called his backer, Peter Olde, Elizabeth, N. J., lawyer, over his workshop phone and started a business chat.

The chat never was finished.

In the midst of the conversation bullets struck Meisterknecht's body and he fell among his tools, dying.

Police immediately began a hunt for Alexander Schreiber, of Cleveland, O., brother of the second Mrs. Meisterknecht, and charged with having made threats against the inventor for "deceiving Sophie" and hiding the fact that he had another wife.

First Wife Appears

Another wife?

Highlands was astonished when a woman who said she was Mrs. Susan Meisterknecht of Yonkers, came forward and laid claim to the dead man as her husband.

While police hunted Schreiber, Mrs. Sophie Meisterknecht arranged a funeral for the slain inventor. In the midst of the rites the service was broken up by court action of the Yonkers wife and the body was removed to a morgue.

Then began the battle for his sudden wealth, and his past life, which Meisterknecht had kept secret, was unfolded.

TAX REDUCTION BATTLE TO REACH CONGRESS FLOOR

gress, Democratic members held that this was a forced compromise and that they are not bound to support it.

"I predict the tax reduction bill will carry a greater figure when it leaves the house and the senate will cut taxes at least $300,000,000," said Rep. John Garner (D) of Texas, minority leader on the committee.

"This figure represents the judgment of the committee, based upon an examination of treasury figures of the future probable surpluses," said Rep. William R. Green (R) of Iowa, chairman.

Adopt Limiting Figure.

The adoption of a limiting figure but $25,000,000 more than was fixed by Secretary of the Treasury Mellon occasioned surprise in political circles. Two Republican members of the committee have within the last week declared that they favored a $300,000,000 cut. Garner charged that they "quit cold under the last of political patronage."

With the adoption of the limiting figure the committee also decided to distribute the tax cuts to corporations paying income tax, automobile buyers who must pay a three per cent purchase tax, and to consider reduction or abolition of admission and club due taxes.

The committee, at the same time, rejected the recommendation of the treasury to adjust the middle brackets of the individual income tax and to repeal the federal inheritance tax.

The committee also voted to abolish the tax on cereal beverages, which yield but $150,000 a year. This tax had been applied at the request of Lincoln C. Andrews, former dry "czar" as an aid to prohibition enforcement, but the new treasury enforcement regime told the committee that the tax was no help and should be abolished.

Among the proposals being considered by the committee for the final draft of the tax reduction bill, it was learned, are:

Reduction of the corporation tax 13½ to 11½ per cent, total $172,000,000; reduction of the auto tax 50 per cent total $35,000,000 with the remainder applied to the relief of small corporations, theaters and other admissions under $3.00; and club dues. The war stamp taxes would remain.

Rep. Garner made known that he has proposed a new basis for taxing income of corporations between $2,000 and $15,000. He would put a 5 per cent tax on earnings of $2,000 to $7,000; 7 per cent tax on earnings $7,000 to $12,000; 9 per cent tax on earnings $12,000 to $15,000 and the general rate, now 13½ per cent would apply to corporations earning above $15,000 annually.

The estate tax, which has been the subject of a long fight, failed to receive the committee's recommendation for repeal by a 6 to 17 vote, while the proposal to adjust the intermediate brackets lost, 2 to 1.

Previous to the committee's action, under secretary of the treasury Ogden Mills made a plea to hold the tax cut to $225,000,000 on the ground that a further tax cut might cause a treasury deficit.

Committee Action.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—The house ways and means committee today voted to slash $178,000,000 annually from the nation's tax bill by adopting two proposals reducing taxes on corporation incomes.

The first would cut the corporation income tax rate from 13½ per cent to 11½ per cent, estimated to reduce the annual tax burden by $166,000,000.

The other would exempt from taxation the income of corporations totaling $3,000, or less, substituting this for the $2,000 maximum now exempted. This would reduce revenues by $12,000,000.

COOLIDGE NOT TO BE INVOLVED IN COAL STRIKE

without power to intervene in the present situation

An outline of the government's position has been given John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, who was a member of the labor delegation which asked the President to summon a peace conference to end the strike of 150,000 miners.

Government officials expressed the belief today that the operators would decline to enter negotiations at this time. They pointed out that the mine owners turned down peace overtures advanced by Governor Donahey of Ohio after the workers had agreed to negotiate a new wage scale.

No Change Seen

There has been no change in the situation since then to cause belief that the operators would alter their stand. On the contrary, some of the operators have posted further wage cuts and have been fortified in their fight by federal court injunctions against picketing and molesting of non-union laborers.

Lewis announced today that the miners are prepared "to go into a conference without prejudice and without commitments", indicating that the union may compromise on a wage scale to obtain peace. "We believe that a conference should be held to terminate an intolerable situation," he added.

He criticized the administration's contention that it is without authority to intervene.

"President Harding did it in 1922 and there is full authority under the mediation and conciliation powers of the Labor Department," Lewis stated.

"The President told our delegates that he desires to be helpful. We are hopeful that he will accede to our request for a conference."

Lewis said he had not sounded out the operators on the proposal.

To Press Demands

The union will press its demands for a congressional investigation of an alleged "conspiracy on the part of big railroad corporations to beat down the price of coal and degrade the living conditions of the miners." The President suggested that these charges be laid before the Interstate Commerce Commission.

"If it takes the commission as long to investigate these charges as it does to decide most cases, the miners will die of starvation in the meantime," he said.

Labor leaders believed Lewis had scored a tactical victory by laying his case before the President, even if no action is forthcoming, because the union will thus be cleared of charges of obstructing peace.

A report on strike conditions was taken to today's cabinet meeting by Secretary of Labor Davis. The President has asked him for an opinion on the proposed conference.

Tragic Ending To Big Celebration After Wedding

Wedding Reception Ends In Wounding Of Participant

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 22.—A wedding reception had an abrupt and tragic ending today when Salvatore Pallone, 27, was shot through the chest, probably fatally.

The shooting took place at Tenth and Wharton streets where the Italian colony participated in a celebration of the marriage of Rosemary Ciancio of this city and Arthur Piccione, of Wilkes-Barre.

After the ceremony the newlyweds eluded the guests and caught a train for Atlantic City. The celebrants searched for the couple then continued the festivities when an argument developed between Pallone and another man. They went outside to settle their differences. A shot was heard a few minutes later, police say, and Pallone was found unconscious on the sidewalk. His assailant escaped.

BRITISH AIRMAN OUT OVER PACIFIC ON LONG FLIGHT

biplane into the air without difficulty, but upon encountering a soupy fog over the ocean returned to the flying field.

To Go On to New Zealand

If the British aviator reaches Hawaii he plans to continue his flight to New Zealand via Pacific points, making the last jump from Australia.

Once off the runway Captain Giles seemed to experience great difficulty in attaining altitude. His maximum altitude before he disappeared from view six minutes after the takeoff, had been not more than 200 feet.

Near the completion of his circle the plane lost fully one-third of this altitude and it seemed for a moment as though the Hess Bluebird was going to be compelled to land.

After he completed his circle he headed to the north toward San Francisco proper. He cleared a small hill that intervened between the airport and the city by not more than 40 feet and then disappeared in a northwesterly direction in the smoky haze that hung over the industrial section of San Francisco.

Starts Early

The airman slept at the field all night, arose at 4:30 a. m. and ordered the mechanics to tune up the motor of his plane.

A small crowd of mechanics an hour before dawn swarmed over his little Hess Bluebird plane, putting on the last-minute touches. The plane was poised at the head of the runway in readiness for the take-off hours before the flight began.

It had 390 gallons of gasoline in its tanks, a near-capacity load.

Meteorological experts were at the field taking readings with special instruments to gauge the wind. A red flare was sent up, attached to a balloon with a known ascension speed. The experts checked the velocity of the wind by this means.

Weather conditions for the hop-off seemed almost ideal. A gentle breeze in a northwesterly direction was noted.

A low mist bank was hanging over the horizon toward the west. The runway was smooth and hard, despite recent rains.

As Giles settled himself in the cockpit he looked around casually, smiled down at the group of friends beneath him on the ground and said:

"Well, you'll hear from me in a day or so."

A wave of his hand over the side of the cockpit—and he was off.

Hold Three For Court On Liquor Law Violations

Hearings Are Given To Accused Trio Before Alderman Hamilton

Three persons were held for the December term of court on liquor charges, following hearings Monday at the office of Alderman Walter T. Hamilton.

The persons held were Frank Devitto, who conducts a store at 719 S. Mill street, and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Venditti, rear 803 Moravia street. All are charged with violation of the Snyder Act. They have furnished bail in the sum of $1500 for their appearance at court. The arresting officers were County Detective William Fleming, Constable W. J. Graham and Detective John Miller. The charge in the Venditti case was made by the county detective and in the other by Detective Miller.

In the Devitto case, Constable Graham and Detective Miller arrested Devitto in his garage filling a bottle, for use in his store, it is alleged, from a seven gallon container, hidden in the garage.

In connection with this case, Frank Devitto, Patsy DeCarbo and Julia DeBiase have been charged jointly with conspiracy. It is alleged that DeCarbo is a partner with Devitto and that the DeBiase woman has been selling liquor for them in the store. This charge has been made by Miller. The hearing on this charge has been postponed until Wednesday. The principals are out under $2000 bail each.

Another charge growing out of the case is that of surety of peace made against Patsy DeCarbo by Frank Devitto. It however was withdrawn during the hearing on the other charge.

A barbarian was originally a bearded man. The Romans shaved the whole face, and a man who wore a beard was considered barbarous.

flames, she managed to get downstairs, the center of the blaze, to the outside.

She rushed to the next door house and from that place Mrs. Elizabeth White, director of the home, was informed of the blaze. She in turn called the central fire department and Assistant Chief Stockman and an assistant responded.

Police Officers Notice Blaze

At about the same time Officers John Young and William McConahy, who were en route to their respective beats in the P. & O. bus, noticed the flames, stopped the bus and rushed to the home to assist first in dispatching a motorist to call the city firemen. These officers assisted others who had gathered at the scene in removing furniture and other valuable articles.

From various sources the seventh ward and sixth ward departments had been warned of the blaze and were en route by the time that the alarm was sounded at Central station.

The departments and the assistant chief arrived at the same time. When Assistant Chief Stockman arrived at the building he found the central stairway, which goes to the fourth floor, in flames.

The nearest fire hydrant 1,500 feet distant, it was determined that the surest means of combating the flames was by means of chemicals.

In all, 120 gallons of chemicals were used in successfully putting out the blaze and confining it to the central stairway. None of the rooms on either side was damaged, except the music room, where the blaze did break through in a small measure.

The heater is located near the center of the building and stairway. The fire burned through the floor and then into the stairway from the first floor to the second floor.

The first four steps from the first floor were burned. The door jams into the living room and music room were destroyed and will have to be replaced.

All the paint in the stairway to the fourth floor is blistered and it will be necessary to repaint the woodwork.

Miss Rodgers, whom it was previously stated was alone in the home, got up early this morning and fixed the fire. She then went back to bed while the fire caught and the home became well heated. She had fallen to sleep, only to be awakened by the cracking of the burning wood.

President Washington appointed a day of thanksgiving in 1789 after the adoption of the Constitution, and in 1795 for the general benefit and welfare of the Nation.

STATE ANNEXATION

THE California real estate commissioner is one of a number of persons beginning to talk about joining Nevada and California into one big state.

The advocates of this idea point to Nevada's undeveloped condition, with a population of less than one person to the square mile, to its desert wastes and "ghost towns." If it were annexed to California, they say, fine, hard-surfaced roads would be constructed all the way across the state, and barren wastes would be turned into blooming fields, and the whole nation would be benefitted by the changes wrought.

There are opponents to the scheme—even in California—who say that their state is already too large, that it needs to be divided into two states instead of being augmented by Nevada's area, and that California still has large sections of unsettled territory to develop before it takes on anything more.

Nevada might have some arguments against the idea, too, and so might its neighbors, Oregon, Idaho, Utah and Arizona.

Nevertheless, it is an interesting suggestion. Most of us have come to think of the 48 states as the final number of separate commonwealths making up the nation. Cutting some of them in two and joining others together have not seemed to be imminent or practical projects. If this particular annexation deal is ever completed, there's no telling what other states will take a notion to do.

AN ENVIED POSITION

SEVERAL weeks ago Secretary Mellon, in looking over United States treasury accounts, came to the conclusion that the government could use $400,000,000 on a certain November day. And being a successful business man he knew the value of advertising as an aid to business. Consequently he caused it to be advertised abroad that the federal government would pay three and one-eighth per cent interest on a loan in that amount.

If any one harbored a doubt as to the willingness of money lenders to come to the aid of the government for such a low rate of interest, that doubt was soon dissipated. A week before the "offer" expired the treasury had at its disposal $1,067,723,000. So the government is put in the position of disappointing its citizens by refusing to borrow their money, for the treasury borrowed no more than the amount originally announced.

While foreign governments are experiencing the greatest difficulty borrowing money at high rates of interest, the national and state governments of the United States can borrow seemingly unlimited amounts at interest far below legal rates.

The situation has a dual significance. It reflects the confidence of the American people in the stability of their government and country, and it constitutes further evidence of the wealth and prosperity of the country.

This government is the envy of other governments and private business. It is the financier's utopia, where borrowing capacity is unlimited, where interest rates are amazingly low and where one must beg his creditors to collect their loans.

UNIVERSAL FARM PROBLEM

THE United States is not alone in its agricultural troubles. From Canada comes a familiar plaint. Premier Brownlee of Alberta expatiates on the woes of the farmer and the drift from farm to city.

Canadian youth will not stay on the land, he says, in spite of all the modern conveniences of rural life—automobiles, telephones, radio, electrical appliances, good roads, newspapers, schools and the rest. They find in the cities greater attraction, and better opportunity.

"Men and women," he observes, "will go where they can get the greatest return for their toil. If we are to keep our farms populated, we must put them on an equal economic basis with industry. How can we expect adventuresome youth to stay on a farm, no matter what the conveniences at his command, if he cannot do as well financially as he can in the romantic city? It is one of the oldest stories known, yet we have not found the remedy. The United States has failed so far, and Europe is no farther along than either of us."

There is, however, a natural remedy, which will probably even things up in time. If enough people go from the farms to the cities, those remaining on the farms will make money. There will be fewer food producers, more consumers, higher prices for crops and cheaper manufactured goods for the farmer.

Most persons who are in a hurry to get somewhere probably do not know why.

The old toll gate has nearly passed, but the highways still take their toll.

We are reminded, sadly, now and then, that the aviation stunt has not been perfected.

William J. Burns, who has come under concentrated fire in the Teapot Dome oil jury tampering case, is a former chief of the U. S. Secret Service and has long been recognized as one of the ablest detectives in America. His first notable work was in 1885, when he assisted in unearthing tally sheet forgeries in Columbus and Cincinnati. More than 20 years of his early career were spent in the government secret service. In 1903 he gathered the evidence which resulted in the conviction of many men of prominence in the Northwestern land fraud cases. He also ran down the Los Angeles Times dynamiters. The conviction of the Philadelphia-Lancaster counterfeiters in 1899 was the result of evidence gathered by him. One of Mr. Burns' last big pieces of work for the government was the apprehension of Dimmick, who robbed the San Francisco mint of $30,000

Hints and Dints

Congress will not meet for nearly two weeks, but already nearly three thousand bills are ready to be presented. People feel easier when congress is not in session.

A long sermon means empty pews according to a preacher in Texas. That may be true, but how about the preacher who is asked to make a prayer at a banquet and then lets it develop into an "Invocational Address." That is what we heard it called once, anyhow.

Three or four executives of Mr. Ford have quit their jobs in the past few days Mr. Ford always makes changes for the good of the services, so that is about what he is doing in this case.

America sent a fund of fifty thousand dollars to the heirs of the French flyers who lost their lives trying to fly to this country. That is another good reason for all of us being proud of the grand title of "American."

Seven deaths have been attributed to the first fall of snow that fell in Chicago last week. No doubt every one of those deaths could have been prevented if the proper precautions had been taken. Exposure no doubt played a big part in the tragedies.

President Coolidge seldom makes a speech in which he does not say the country is more prosperous than ever, business is good and wages are higher and taxes are lower. That is much better than complaining about hard times and other things equally discouraging. Being an optimist is the best thing at times—or in fact any time.

A United States senator says "We need more intelligent juries in criminal trials." Those who win in any kind of trials will swear that the jurors in their case were the most intelligent in the world and those who lose cases will also swear that no more ignorance exists in so small a space as that which the jury occupied. It all depends, brethern.

We noted an item in a newspaper where a minister married a couple in 20 seconds. Gee, that is faster than drowning.

There are many problems in life, great and small, but one of the most important problems is to get the car paid for before it drops to pieces.

A Chicago actress not only got a divorce from her husband because he treated her badly and told her he did not love her, but the decree provided also that her husband pay her $2,500 she said he owed her. She won on all points that time.

Perhaps you have noticed that a man who insists on talking about the past usually is the one who will not pay any attention to the alarm clock tomorrow morning.

Hard times may have struck Florida but we judge from the circulars we are getting from hotels there the hotel business must be good as the rates are just as scandalously high as ever. There is nothing harder to reduce than high hotel rates. War rates are still in vogue in Atlantic City and other seaside resorts. And it looks as if they will be as long as the public stands for the robbery.

You will never see the day when a Pullman porter will not expect a tip in spite of the fact that they are asking for higher wages and the abolition of the tip. They know the tip will come along with higher wages. They will not get the higher wage either.

A tablet of honor has been placed on the cottage of the lady who invented camembert cheese in Brittany. So far however no tablets have been placed on the residence of the guy who invented limberger cheese.

A mother writes us that nobody knows what real trouble is until they have tried to raise a modern 16-year-old girl by old-fashioned methods.

Dear Hints and Dints: One of our local preachers called at the house of a family whose address had been given him by one of his parishioners. A small boy came to the door and said nobody was home.

"What is your father's religion little man?" asked the minister.

"I'm not sure," answered the boy "but from what mother says every little while he is a Seventh Day ABSENTIST." J. P. D.

Flood relief seems to be the principal idea to come before the short session of Congress that will convene next month. That is a good subject to talk about and neither party can go after the other on it. In the south where relief is needed it is all democratic and in the New England states it is all republican. Perhaps with this combination some real action can be expected.

It has been suggested that with so many people lacking work and food that meat is needed for the poor and the mighty hunters who go out and kill the deer in the state give the venison to the poor for food. That would be very fine but if we were hungry for some meat we would hate to have to wait until the hunters got it. It might be a long long wait.

The officials who run the county jail in Washington county have decided that the prison fare as outlined by the state welfare department is just a little too good for the people confined there and have reduced the rations considerably. There is no use making jail too inviting for there are many people who would just as soon be in jail as hitting the bricks, and if they want to be there let them realize it three times a day when the dinner bell rings.

The Companionate Monkey.

Mr. Tunney's Ideals.

Better Miracles.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE
(Copyright, 1927, By N. Y. American, Inc.

Miss Emily Howland celebrates her one hundredth birthday, at Sherwood, a little village in New York state.

Engaged in educational work for eighty years, she was a teacher long before the country heard of Abraham Lincoln, or dreamed of a civil war.

In youth and old age, Miss Howland has set a good example. She worked to abolish physical slavery for Negroes, and political slavery for women, when she was young. And now, celebrating her one hundredth birthday, she is full of hope for the future, and of optimism concerning the present. Young girls today are good girls, she says, and the world is progressing toward higher, better ideals.

Such a woman as Miss Emily Howland should live forever.

Mr. Haldeman-Julius, a Kansas publisher of books, approves his young daughter's experiment in "companionate marriage." The girl, 18, will marry a 20-year-old boy, the two "will continue living their lives after marriage as they lived previously, until they determine whether they are entirely suited to each other." Until then they won't live together, at least not in the same house.

Exactly what the plan is seems uncertain. But other things are certain, including this:

Until they live together they cannot possibly know whether they are suited to each other or not.

Companionate marriage is as old as the human race and as old as the monkey race. All the monkeys live in companionate marriage, free to quit at any time, and they like it.

It took human beings thousands of centuries to establish marriage—a device by which providence and women, co-operating, are gradually teaching men to be decent.

It's a slow process, but that is no reason for getting discouraged and going back to old monkey days and ways.

President Coolidge told Mr. Tunney that he looked more like a moving picture actor than a fighter. The president, perhaps, meant that Tunney looked less like a gorilla than some fighters.

Tunney looked like a fighter in France, wearing the Marines' uniform, while some other prize fighters were hiding under the bed or in safe camps at home teaching soldiers to box.

Mr. Tunney, who is in the naval reserve, tells the youth of the world that the great things in life are "religion, loyalty, duty."

A good list. Youth will say to itself that a good "uppercut" will carry you farther on the road to prosperity, in our civilization, than any amount of religion, loyalty and duty.

Be loyal to your fellow man, do your duty, be religious and you'll be happy. Knock your fellow man out, and you'll be rich.

The Rev. Dr. Straton says we might now have miracles as wonderful as those of the olden times. He has seen a woman "virtually dead already" brought back to life by prayer.

Modern miracles of the scientific kind are more wonderful than old miracles.

Men go in submarines under the water and in flying machines above it, instead of walking on it.

They prevent disease by common sense and curb it with innoculation, saving millions of lives instead of resurrecting a few. They talk and send music through the air without wires.

The new miracles are at least as spectacular as the old, and much more useful. Vaccination is worth more than all the miraculous cures of all the religions.

When the virtuous fall out, the wicked smile. Senator Borah, Republican, of Idaho, who wants prohibition enforced because it is in the Constitution, also wants all Negroes to vote exactly as they please, because that is in the Constitution.

Senator Glass, Democrat, from Virginia, favors enforcing the amendment on prohibition, but has his doubts on the Fourteenth and Fifteenth amendments referring to the colored brother.

Senator Glass says "the Fourteenth and Fifteenth amendments were adopted in 'the passion of the war,' and constitute an attempt to destroy white civilization." Those that don't believe in prohibition reply that prohibition also was voted in the excitement of a BIGGER war.

However, prohibition is in the Constitution, and it is going to stay. Politicians tiptoe around it, many taking both sides, like the candidate for school teacher who told the old-fashioned board of trustees that when it came to the shape of the earth he taught "both flat and round."

News of better times comes from Europe. The war is over for the present, anyhow. The use of electricity and knowledge of chemistry promise to do as much for Europe's industry now as steam did after the Napoleonic wars.

The value of the pound sterling recently has been the highest on record since 1914. The German mark is on a gold basis.

If all Europe should decide to stop fighting permanently, voluntarily putting soldiers and sailors to work, as Germany has been compelled to do, the world would go ahead rapidly.

Dr. Crane's Editorial

THE RED CROSS

From Armistice Day to Thanksgiving the Red Cross asks for five million.

This is not too much.

It is manifestly the duty of us all as human beings to help those less fortunate.

It is commonly believed and it is undeniably true that the possession of great means or of great talent, or, as far as that is concerned, of any means or any talent, is a responsibility put upon us to help our fellows.

Charity is a thing that should not be left to hit and miss methods. It should not be left to the sympathies of the moment nor to the turn of events.

It is something to be planned for and to be managed as intelligently as any other part of our business.

Mr. Rockefeller in putting his millions at the disposal of a wise and competent board has done vastly more good than if he had distributed them promiscuously. To give a quarter to a beggar upon the street is merely a sop to our conscience when we do not contribute intelligently of our means to such charities as the Community Chest.

The Red Cross is the one charity that has the support of the Government and the undeniable right of way in the whole world. It is successfully and carefully managed and one knows that whatever money he may give to it will be judiciously expended.

It is headed in its executive department by John Barton Payne, the former Secretary of the Interior under the Democratic regime. He was appointed by the Republican President Harding and has retained office ever since. All, irrespective of their political affiliation, know his devotion and his genius.

When he was appointed by President Harding he said he would take the job under one condition and that was that he was to work without salary and to pay his own expenses. Naturally this condition was complied with and he now lives in his own house and devotes all of his time to this herculean task, entirely without compensation.

Such an example is a call to all good citizens to rally to the support of the Red Cross.

Bible Thought For Today

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

WORTHY SUCCESSORS

There is a disposition on the part of the people constituting the citizenry of every Democratic Nation to throw stones at the descendants of their great men. This is a part of their revolt against Monarchies and so-called governments by Aristocracies. The jest of "three generations from shirt sleeves to shirt sleeves" is repeated again and again when the Press of this Nation prints some scandal regarding the son or grandson of a Great House. It is refreshing when the newspapers do give credit where credit is due.

There never was a more able United States Senator than Henry Cabot Lodge. He himself was only one of a long line of honorable gentlemen bearing his name. He was a man of deep learning and absolutely devoted to his family and his Nation. It is interesting therefore to know that there is now at the Nation's capital as the Washington correspondent of the New York Herald-Tribune another Henry Cabot Lodge, the old Senator's grandson. He is a young man of 26 and is in training for a political career of his own. He recently quoted in his paper the statement made to him by Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Lowman that the American (Tariff) Policy is one of reciprocity. That is our policy. "They go up, we go up; they go down, we go down."

The statement was made in connection with the story written by young Lodge concerning the United States Treasury's attitude towards the new tariff placed upon American goods by France. Young Lodge stirred up a hornet's nest with his story, but he stuck to his guns and the Assistant Secretary of the Treasury is today rather sorry he spoke.

The incident, however, shows that there is an American bearing a great name who is worthy of the name.

The other night Charles P. Taft, the son of the Chief Justice of the Nation, spoke in public for the first time upon the occasion of commemorating the 75th anniversary of the founding of the Y. M. C. A. in Washington. The Chief Justice was there. So was the President. The young man acquitted himself very well, and even brought a smile to the face of the President when he spoke of a mountaineer who was a graduate of Siwash "or maybe it was Amherst". Young Taft is another worthy son of a worthy father, a worthy grandfather and a worthy great-grandfather. No shirt sleeves there.

It is unnecessary to speak of the House of Roosevelt, or the House of Morgan, or of any other of the great Houses of America. It is true today as it has always been true, "Blood will tell", and there are more young men in the world today than ever who are absolutely worthy of the name they bear.

ABSENT

Now she's away, and every chair
Has lost the charm it ought to wear
And every book
At which I look
Seems in my loneliness to share.

A stranger turns a wistful eye
Upon my house as he goes by
As if to say:
"'Tis very gay,
But, oh, he cannot hear me sigh!"

And there are lovely things within
Which we have labored long to win
And calm is there
Where all is fair,
But, oh, I dread the going in!

Hers is the spirit of the place,
From her comes every touch of grace
And day by day,
When she's away,
The empty rooms I hate to face.

PUNISHING AT SCHOOL

Recently a New Jersey boy of 14 years was arrested for breaking his teacher's nose. It developed that the teacher was engaged in pulling the boy's hair when she suffered the punch on the nose. Also, that the squabble began because the boy was alleged to have failed properly to salute the flag at the beginning of a recitation period.

Another case. A Brooklyn boy, 15, had his teacher, a man in this case, arrested on a disorderly conduct charge because the teacher tried to goad the boy into a fight with a boy of superior strength. The teacher explained that this was his method of punishing the boy for failing to sing "The Star Spangled Banner".

Now, I'm all for patriotism, in school and out. I do not know whether very frequent saluting of the flag is conducive to patriotism, but I am willing to concede that it is if the teachers, by majority vote, say so. I do know that I never could sing "The Star Spangled Banner" in school or out of school. This Brooklyn boy says he is in like case. He simply can't sing, and he never tries, because he feels sorry for those who have to listen to him.

I must confess that my sympathy is with the pupils in cases of this kind. I believe that corporal punishment of children is too serious a matter to entrust to school teachers, much as I respect the teaching profession. Furthermore, it is too much to expect of a teacher that he thrash and pounce and beat and otherwise maul children that are not his own. Teachers have more important things to do.

The Brooklyn teacher says he has used his punishment system for years. When a boy does something heinous like failing to sing a difficult hymn this teacher sets him to fighting with a boy who is a better fighter, both wearing boxing gloves. This, in my opinion, is a brutalizing and shameful procedure and ought to be stopped either by law or by forceful intervention of parents.

It is extremely unwise for any teacher, especially a woman, to attempt to carry out physical punishment upon a 14-year- old boy. The boy may feel his self-respect damaged and may fight back. This may result in a broken nose for teacher. It did in the case under review.

Now, I do not relish the idea of any woman's nose being broken, and I think the whole proceeding exceedingly unfortunate. But I believe the way for teachers to avoid such unpleasant incidents is to leave the physical punishment of children, if any, to the parents. Teachers have enough to do if they do their best to instruct the children. You cannot make a boy patriotic by pulling his hair, especially if he is somebody else's boy

Four Overcome By Gas When Cave-In Occurs

(International News Service)

SCRANTON, Pa., Nov. 22.—Mrs. Helen Gallagher, 60, and her three daughters were overcome and narrowly escaped asphyxiation early today at their home in South Scranton when a mine cave-in broke a gas main, causing the fumes to fill the Gallagher home.

The victims included Mrs. Gallagher, and her daughters, Mary, 28, Lucy, 24, and Helen, 22.

Patrick Gallagher, 30, awakened by the sound of his mother's body as she fell, called to his sisters but found them unconscious. He called the neighbors and physicians, and working together, they succeeded in bringing the four women out of danger.

A half dozen other homes were filled with gas, but their occupants escaped.

Fifth Ward To Be Heard Wednesday

Few Changes Made In Third Ward Tax Assessments, At Hearing Monday

Approximately a score of property owners and persons assessed for personal taxation from the third ward appeared before council sitting as a board of appeals and tax revision Tuesday.

It was found that generally there had been a slight reduction in assessment and very few assessments were changed, the majority of these being different classification of employment.

During the day Robert Whaley, while not objecting to assessments, pointed out that property on the East Washington street hill, north of County Line street, in his opinion was not as valuable as property east and west on even ground.

Wednesday appeals from the fifth ward assessments will be heard.

REV. RALPH McCONNELL SPEAKER AT MEETING OF HERSHEY AUXILIARY

Rev. Ralph McConnell, reurned missionary from Siam was the principal speaker at the annual Thanksgiving service conducted Monday evening by the Hershey Auxiliary of the First Presbyterian church.

Noted Director of Feature Photoplays, writes:

"I think Luckies are the greatest cigarettes in the world. I think so for two reasons: first, because I enjoy smoking and the flavor of Luckies is certainly in a class by itself—second, because I know I can smoke them freely and I never have to worry about any throat irritation. In directing such feature films as 'Firemen, Save My Child,' my voice, of course, is subjected to unusual strain. I must protect it."

People Will Read If Given Chance Declares Librarian

"Although there is a general feeling that people will not read books, even if they are provided with them, yet I am not quite sure about the matter," declares Alice M. Sterling, librarian at the New Castle public library.

"It seems to me that the trouble with reading is that people generally have never had a chance .Hundreds of cases can be cited to show that wherever the opportunity comes it is eagerly seized. The reports of libraries everywhere show this. A recent writer says that 'people do not know that they want books." But give them a chance and they discover that they do.

"The main difficulty seems to be to furnish books. Few feel able to buy more than two or three books a year and many are so situated that they do not know how to buy.

"One of the ways that books can reach isolated communities is by the county library method. All that one needs to do is to write a letter to the library at the county seat, tell just the books that one wishes and they are shipped out by return mail. And the cost of it all will come to less than 30 cents a year."

ABLE MESSAGE ON DIVINE GRAFTING BY EVANGELIST

Rev. R. W. Weston had for his subject at the revival service in the Dewey Avenue Free Methodist church Monday evening "Divine Grafting."

Rev. Weston told of it being symbolized in nature and referred to in Scripture. He said the highest principal of grafting is in the Son of God with his Divine human nature.

God demands of us body, soul and spirit. He wants all our talents, that he might graft unto these His divine life and power. Surrendering to Christ does not mean burying our talents, but using them to God's glory. Christ also grafts upon His Word and only by the digesting of the Word of God can we develop into strong Christian character.

Rev. Weston will speak this evening, "The Man of Sin."

Plan Assembly In New School

Shenango Township Consolidated School Will Inaugurate New Program

The schools of Shenango township will be closed on Thursday and Friday of this week for the Thanksgiving vacation according to the announcement of Claire Book, supervisor of schools of the township.

At the weekly assembly on Wednesday, a Thanksgiving program is to be given at the new Consolidated school at East New Castle. Each room of the school is to contribute a part of the program. It is the first time that it has been attempted to accommodate the entire student body in the auditorium of the school but although it may be somewhat crowded, it is thought that they will all be able to get in.

On the week following Thanksgiving, G. W. Johnston, principal of the High school says that the two dramatic clubs are arranging entertainments to which the public will be invited. There are two dramatic clubs in the High school, one under the supervision of Miss Margaret Cowmeadow is called the Lidra Club and one under the supervision of Miss Catherine Alcorn has chosen the name All Star.

This week the basketball team will hold their first game of the season when they meet a team from Jacksville. They have secured new basketball outfits consisting of suits in blue and gold. The jerseys are blue with gold stripes and the pants are blue with gold braid and bands. It is hoped that a very good season of basketball will be developed.

PETER'S ADVENTURES in ANIMAL LAND

BY MRS. FLORENCE SMITH VINCENT

THE STRANGE UMBRELLA RACK

By this time Mrs. Flittermouse and the boy were far away from the rest of the Bats, all by themselves, flying under the starlit sky.

Suddenly Peter began to think of the time. How late it must be! The moon had rolled out of sight a long, long while ago. How much longer was Mrs. Flittermouse going to hunt? One would think she would be all tired out—she had been flapping about for hours—but for all he could notice, the lively lady was quite as fresh as she had been at the start.

My, but he wished Mrs. Flittermouse would carry him down to earth. He was so weary he believed he could slumber under the shade of the milkweed leaves. Oh, dear! Now his foot was asleep! He didn't dare move, though, for fear he would fall. Oaah! He was slipping now. Down, down, down, down! Plump!

Sure enough, the poor boy had fallen—not from Mrs. Flittermouse's back, though—only off to sleep.

Peter opened his eyes with a start. Good gracious, it was daylight! What in the world made him feel so strange? His head—it ached dreadfully. Why, his head was lower than his feet—it must be, for he was staring straight down on the bare ground when he should have been looking up at the sky. He was upside down, just as sure as he was born! Where was he? What had happened? He was still on Mrs. Flittermouse's back, of that much he was sure!

Peter leaned forward to look about him and came within an inch of losing his balance, but he found out what he wanted to know. Mrs. Flittermouse had hung herself head down from the limb of a tree, clinging fast with the large hooked claws on her hind feet, and her eyes were closed.

Peter laughed. Mrs. Flittermouse had hung herself upon a limb, just as one would dangle an umbrella from the hatrack peg. The boy poked the Bat in the back.

"Hey, wake up, old lady!" cried he. "'Tis broad daylight—time for anyone to be up and doing." Mrs. Flittermouse paid no attention—never even opened her eyes. Then the boy remembered night was the time for Bats to be stirring, and since Mrs. Flittermouse had flown in the darkness it was quite likely she would want to rest in the sunlight. Poor thing! She was tired out! She had been kind to him. He would not be cruel to her by disturbing her. Cautiously Peter clambered to the ground—Mrs. Flittermouse never moved a muscle—and walked softly away leaving the queer umbrella hanging on its rack.

Palestine Football Reopens Battle On Sabbath Observance

(International News Service)

JERUSALEM, Nov. 22. — Football has brought to a head in Jerusalem the regulation fight over Blue Laws observance with the clergy kicking with all their moral might against the Sabbath violators. Only that here the quarrel is over Saturday as the Sabbath and the fight over the game is on between the Rabbis who insist on one hundred per cent observance and the Jewish youth of Jerusalem who insist with equal fervour on the right to play.

For the while it looks as if youth has triumphed, having kicked the ball past the Rabbinical goal keepers. With a vote of 49 against 44 the Maccabee football team has decided to reject all peaceful proposals to "compromise," and give up playing on Saturday.

Since long recondled that youth will out, the Rabbis, notably Chief Rabbi Kook of Jerusalem, has indicated on numerous occasions that the Rabbis would pretend they did not know about Saturday football if only the gate receipts were sacrificed. The violation would not be so gross if no money were handled. Recently the Jeshurum Congregation, including many Americans, offered the Maccabee to make up any deficit in gate receipts if another day were fixed for the sport. The Maccabees need the money but they need the game more. And so after a stormy session the Jeshurum proposal was lost by five votes.

LETTERS TO THE NEWS

WHY INCREASED PRICE?

Editor of The News:

In behalf of the football fans of the Shenango Tin Mill, I am writing this letter to The News asking you to publish it. Does the High School need the money, or what is the reason for charging $1.00 for the Thanksgiving game. The men here are only working part time now and a careful survey of the attendance are about 35 to 50 per cent of mill men, so why take advantage of them. We have been most loyal to the team this year, if there is a reason for charging $1.00, would you have Mr. Gardner tell us. We have watched a lot of onesided games this season, then when we expect to see a good game the price goes up.

If the raise in price is for a good reason please let us know and we will be there 100 per cent, but if NO reason is given there will be a lot of us among the missing Thursday.

The Shenango Works Football Fans.

75,000 miles at — 65 miles an hour

Pennzoil furnished perfect lubrication

THE Studebaker Corporation turned loose three stock Commanders on the Atlantic City speedway to be driven at top speed for 25,000 miles. Two roadsters averaged 65.31 miles per hour and a sedan over 61 miles per hour. Practically every existing stock car record was smashed.

After exhaustive preliminary tests, Pennzoil was chosen to lubricate every moving part of all three cars.

At the end of this amazing performance, official inspection of the cars by Studebaker engineers and A. A. A. contest board, found all three motors still in perfect condition.

Roaming Round With Richards

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations Of Interesting Things Around New Castle.

This colyum may get in today or again it may not. Just got back from some roaming that started Sunday morning and ended up this morning, the roaming being done in Harrisburg. The excuse for it, if any, was a banquet held down there and every county in the state sent a lot of fellows in.

The biggest kick out of the whole thing was the opportunity to meet friends again. Some of them had advanced in the political scale, some were talking of running for bigger offices, and all of them talked politics.

Tom Bluett who was Speaker of the House for two sessions is now Judge Bluett of Philadelphia, Representative Herman Early of Harrisburg who was First Sergeant Early in Camp Hancock, Ga., in 1918 is now Councilman Early.

And of course a lot of the big boys were there. His Excellency, John S. Fisher, governor; Senator Reed, Senator-Elect Vare, Bob Woodside from Pittsburgh. Lieutenant Governor James, and the guest of honor Col. Eric Fisher Wood. Lawrence County was represented at the speaker's table by Secretary of Agriculture Charles G. Jordan.

The leader of the musical program of the evening was Tom Francis, a former well known New Castle boy now a business man of Harrisburg. He and his brother Glenn are responsible for most of the Fords seen on the streets down there, but Tom still keeps up his singing. His American Legion singers got over well with the crowd.

When I left Sunday morning I thought that the question of women's fraternities or sororities was all washed up. But it seems as though the fracas was just taking a breathing spell. Professor Robert Xavier Graham of Westminster College crashes through with a gem on the subject to which your attention is invited.

Dear Bart:

I hate to do this: Whenever people, whether students in the classroom or readers of the daily newspaper, miss the point entirely, it is to smile. My contribution to the cause of trying to explain the reason for calling sororities fraternities seems to have gone over the heads of some of the readers of your estimable colyum.

Did I not say, you old emulator of F. P. A., Don Marquis and Christopher Morley, that we call plum pudding, plum pudding, despite the fact that there are no plums in the stuff? Did I not point out the fact that there is seldom any quail in an order of quail on toast? Did I not infer that there is nothing, absolutely nothing, in a name? Your Westminsterette evidently did not read my whimsy. I fear that she merely heard someone talking about it.

Her line of reasoning, however, is extremely good. The best way to get nowhere is to consult the Oxford dictionary for derivation (which was evidently done). All one has to do after consulting this oracle is to rearrange data so that it fits into one's argument, and the rest is easy.

For instance: A woman is a man because, as philologists have pointed out, the word "man" is obviously connected with older words which had reference to "manus" or hand. Therefore since women have hands, a woman is a man. Ergo!

Or, again: It is absolutely correct to call a sorority a fraternity since girls belong to sororities and the word "girl," according to all that is good and holy in the aforementioned Oxford dictionary, means a young person of either sex.

Or to go from the sublime to the feminine manner of arguing, we might even call a sorority a dairy, since it is well known that the word "lady" is akin to dairy; the word first being used in connection with dairymaids and those who looked after domestic affairs.

According to this last definition, we have few, if any, ladies today. But we can't call them women, for the word "woman" means "wife-man," and few of them are married. And, as I pointed out, the word "girl" may mean a young person of either sex. What, then shall we call the members of these fratorities or sorernities?

'Tis a strange, strange world, Bart, and names mean absolutely nothing at all. So far as I am concerned, a sorority may call itself a G. A. R. post of a Bevy of Quail. I'll see to it that the budding journalists designate it as desired in the daily press stories.

Yours for the last word,
R. X. G.

THE NEWS BY MAIL, ONE YEAR, $5.00

Special Thanksgiving Dinner Is Planned For County Home Inmates

Thanksgiving day is always a day looked forward to by those at the Lawrence County Home, and this year is no exception. Mrs. P. D. Snyder will endeavor to soothe the palates of 58 men and women of the home on Thanksgiving day, when she serves a feast of oysters.

This will be the first time they will have had oysters on such an occasion. Before it has generally been turkey or chicken, but this year Mrs. Snyder thought a bountiful oyster dinner would be much more appreciated and the chicken will be served for Christmas.

So quarts of oysters, steaming hot, will be the menu on Thursday, and on the long tables will be found celery, peas, potatoes, and the dinner will end with fruit cake and good, juicy peaches.

Many of those in the home remember the bountiful dinners that they used to enjoy in once happy homes and now welcome the annual event with much anticipation, and although Mrs. Snyder says that she tries to vary each meal so that not only will they receive plenty of good food, but also a variety. But on such occasions as Thanksgiving and Christmas she makes the utmost effort to furnish a real feast.

The coming of Thanksgiving also reminds us that Christmas is coming and the activities will start at the home next week, when the Sunday school class taught by Mrs. C. F. Flannery will give a program in the chapel of the home and also furnish a treat for all the men and women of the home. Mrs. Snyder says that for three or four weeks before Christmas every year many organizations endeavor to bring a little cheer into the lives of these unfortunate people.

Since the average age of the 58 people at the home is about 70, and very few under 50, and since many of them are feeble with old age, many of the hours spent there are shaded, but the brightness that comes into many hearts may be shown by one or two examples that Mrs. Snyder relates. She tells of the Italian who, without relatives, was brought into the home some time ago, almost paralyzed. He could not even speak a word. Soon he began to pick up under the treatment afforded and now he seems in good health and performs many tasks about the place.

Another story was told of a man who had spent some time in punishment for his crimes, and when brought to the home was bent double with rheumatism. For months he was treated and fed back to health until now he is able to get around and it looks as though soon he will be completely cured.

So, although it means only days and weeks of waiting to many of those in the home, to others it means cure and hope for the future.

Very few sick are found in the hospital room of the home at the present. An unusual good report of health can be shown at the present time, especially since so many of them are of a very old age and liable to disease.

ATLANTIC winter gasoline

takes the dread out of cold-weather starting

TEMPERATURE changes are one of the greatest enemies with which a motor fuel has to contend. It takes an easy-starting gasoline to rouse your engine on wintry days.

Atlantic would no more think of offering you the same gasoline in winter as in summer, than you would think of wearing the same weight clothing throughout the year.

Although Atlantic winter gasoline is basically the same as the famous Atlantic which built up such a remarkable record of performance last summer, its volatility has been increased—to make quick starting and smooth going in icy weather a certainty.

It vaporizes instantly at chilling temperatures — catches the spark and warms your motor up in a jiffy. Yet it is carefully balanced for complete, uniform combustion. . . . And packed with power for hills, speed and traffic!

Use Atlantic winter-formula gasoline and forget all about cold-weather starting worries. All Atlantic pumps and service stations have it. Pull up anywhere.

Specially adjusted to meet cold-weather motor operating and driving conditions

(International News Service)

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 22.—Death threats against Mary McCormick, heiress to the McCormick harvester millions, were revealed today as William D. Benjamin, World War veteran was held in jail here charged with using the mails to defraud.

Benjamin is accused of being the author of two threatening letters received by Miss McCormick at her Pasadena home.

The letters adoitly worded revealed a vision of the heiress' mother appearing in a dream before a soldier of the World War and insisting that an endowment of $5,000 be used to provide a home for boys.

Miss McCormick was told the vision had phrophesied that she and her two brothers would die within the month if the money was not provided.

Postal inspectors today were checking up police reports that Benjamin who was gassed during the war had been arrested in Chicago and Minneapolis on similar mail fraud charges.

Miss McCormick is a daughter of Cyrus McCormick founder of the McCormick harvester works and a sister of Harold McCormick.

Supreme Court Is Now Model

U. S. Supreme Court Decides To Become Model For Courts Throughout Country

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—The United States supreme court has decided to become a model for other courts, in response to a nationwide demand to end the law's delays, close observers of the court declared today.

Laying aside other business, the court in one full swoop rejected 77 petitions for writs of review and virtually cleaned its docket of these petitions.

Chief Justice Taft, it was pointed out, had indicated a determination to decide these petitions promptly, since this method is often used by litigants merely to secure a delay in the final disposition of their case.

The court also rejected four petitions for reviews because the lawyers made their briefs too long.

Under authority of Congress, the court has established rules prescribing methods of stating petitions for writs of certiorari. One petition, the court pointed out, was 51 pages long and was accompanied by a brief 72 pages long and an appendix of 90 pages.

Arrest Man In Local Store On Charge Of Theft

John Balin, Oakland avenue, was taken into custody about noon today at the Murphy store by Policewoman Mrs. Minnie McKibben and Officer Hillers.

He had about four dollars worth of stuff taken in that store in his possession when apprehended. A search at his home revealed scores of articles evidently stolen in stores of this city. Among the stuff were neckties, flashlight, electric iron, tools of all kinds, socks, handkerchiefs and many other articles.

Balin is said to have been a veteran of the World War and to have been shell shocked. The police are investigating.

The earliest Thanksgiving known to have been observed by Christian men on the American continent was that held by the Popham colonists on their landing in Maine, Aug. 9, 1607.

UNIONTOWN, Pa. Nov. 22. — Rev. Andrew B. Rev. Lemke has clung to his church although officially ousted.

Christmas Seal Sales Will Start

Friday, November 25, Is Designated As Date For Opening Of Seal Sales

Without the usual fanfare of publicity that greets the starting of a new campaign—and this time a campaign designed to relieve human suffering—the National Tuberculosis association will start their annual Christmas Seal sale Friday November 25.

It was in 1910 that the National Tuberculosis society came into alliance with the American Red Cross for the purpose of conducting a Christmas Seal sale. Through the years they have struggled together and when in 1920 it became necessary to sever the relationship between the two organizations the impetus which the ten years had given to the Christmas seal made it much easier for the National Tuberculosis association to establish its own seal .Since 1920 the Christmas seal sale has borne no relation to the Red Cross. The seal is now strictly a Tuberculosis seal.

From its very beginning the Tuberculosis seal has been an educational medium of the most profound significance. In selling the seals, members of the association must also sell the idea of tuberculosis prevention. Through the seal millions of people have learned of the nature and prevention of this disease; hundreds of agencies for fighting the malady have been brought into existence, communities have been aroused to a better appreciation of individual and public health and the nation as a whole has been stirred into a realization of the import of tuberculosis as a disease problem.

Of course as every one knows, he Christmas seal has many uses. It can be used on letters and cards, on gift packages, in fact any place where one would drop a bit of sealing wax.

When the seal comes on sale Friday morning it is the desire of the committee in charge that every citizen of New Castle buy as many of them as he or she can afford to buy for the cause is worthy.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

BY MRS. MARY MORTON

MENU HINT

Do you have trouble getting your family to eat breakfast, or are they hungry first thing in the morning? Breakfast is a hard meal to get, for everyone is in a hurry and it is hard to feel enthusiastic over cooking so early in the morning. Try to vary the menu as much as possible, preparing as much of the meal as you can the night before to expedite matters in the morning.

Orange Juice
Cooked Wheat Cereal with Top Milk
Creamed Tuna Fish or Dried Beef on Toast
Cookies Coffee

TODAY'S RECIPES

Cooked Cereal—The cereal may be cooked in the double boiler the night before and warmed up in the morning. Many people think fruit, cereal and coffee is enough for breakfast, and it is for people who are doing ordinary work. Growing young people and those who are out of doors a great deal should eat heartily, if possible.

Creamed Tuna Fish or Dried Beef—Make a cream sauce of one tablespoon butter, one tablespoon flour, one cup milk, salt and pepper. When smooth add one cup flaked tuna fish or shredded dried beef. Serve over squares of toast.

Whole Wheat Nut-Raisin Bread—Four cups whole wheat flour, four teaspoons baking powder, two teaspoons salt, one-half cup sugar, three-fourths cup nut meats (chopped coarsely), three-fourths cup chopped raisins, one egg, two cups milk. Mix and sift together the dry ingredients, add nuts and raisins. Beat egg light, add it to the milk. Combine. Beat well. Bake in two loaves in moderate oven 40 to 50 minutes.

Cakes—Little cakes may either be made the day before an affair or bought. Ice with orange icing. Ice cream molded in shapes and colors appropriate to the occasion may generally be secured of a caterer.

Next to the heart muscle, the diaphragm muscle is the most important in the human body, as it is able to do all the breathing required to maintain life.

Stamp Club Is To Be Organized

Stamp Collectors Assemble Here On Monday Evening For First Time

The philatelists met Monday evening—not only met, but decided that New Castle will have a stamp club also, one that in time, they feel, will vie with the famed Sharon Stamp Club.

It was in the rooms of Jack Dunfee, New Castle's most noted collector, that seven local men, with two from Warren, O., got together last evening and discussed stamps. To the uninitiated the ensuing melee was terrific. Penny blacks, three cent 51's, Columbian broken hats, counterfeits, stamps of foreign countries, all came up for their share of the discussion. The names of more countries were brought up than even the most rabid Democrat would care to include in the League of Nations. There was some trading, some buying and some selling.

Although it was purely a man's meeting that was held in the rooms of Mr. Dunfee, yet it was hard for one to get a word in edgeways. Everyone was bent on showing his pet and telling its history.

Well, the result of it all is that there will be a New Castle stamp club, with meetings the third Monday evening of each month. At the next meeting, December 19th, officers for the New Castle Stamp Club will be elected, and by-laws adopted.

Those who attended the meeting were: Harry Marlowe and P. C. Oliphant, both of Warren, O.; Harry Marshall, Daniel Hennon, Floyd Derr, Harry Breneman, W. J. Riggans, John Hitch and Fred Mattle, all of New Castle. Mr. Dunfee presided.

WILL INITIATE CLASS OF BOYS

With the first initiation in December, plans are being worked out by the Lawrence county council, Boy Scouts of America, for an older boys' organization, known as the Gimmogash club.

At the December initiation degrees will be conferred up on Scouts John Boston, Trenton Eckles, James Metzler, Seth Morrow, George McCracken and Robert Wilson.

The older boys of the Lawrence county council are taking to this organization very enthusiastically. At Camp Phillips the first initiation will be held, followed by a feed, and plans for a monthly meeting. The Siam Club, for younger Scouts, will be started in the near future.

Airplane Development In United States Is Showing Big Increase

"Aeronautics Age" Dawning In America, Says Director Of Commerce

Sixty Per Cent Increase In Construction Shown Over 1925 Is Revealed

By ROBERT S. THORNBURGH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—The "aeronautics age" is dawning in the United States.

In the near future thousands of luxuriously equipped airplanes will travel on schedule over charted and illuminated air routes.

Airplane taxis will await the call of tired out busy business men.

Private aircraft, safe as automobiles, will sweep the skies.

Painting this remarkable picture of aeronautics of the near future, Clarence M. Young, director of aeronautics of the commerce department, today declared if at first laggard in development of aerial navigation, the country now is moving ahead at top speed to build one of the world's finest "commercial air marines."

High points in Young's official report to Secretary of Commerce Hoover include:

Sixty Per Cent Increase.

"Airplane construction in the year just closed in this country was valued at more than $20,000,000, a 60 per cent gain over 1925.

"Airplanes of new design are replacing the war surplus type, which have been doing service up to the present.

"New air routes are being charted in all parts of the country; cities vie with each other in the construction of improved airports.

"It is estimated that by the end of 1928 a thousand airports will be in operation, a large percentage municipal.

Numerous cities and towns are becoming 'airmarked', one company alone having painted city names on more than 4,000 of its stations."

On June 30, there were 4,121 miles of lighted airways in operation. The commerce department will continue as rapidly as possible to light the airways, since the economical use of aircraft demands flying at night and in all vicissitudes of weather and season.

Commercial airplanes were being put into service at the rate of 100 a month at the beginning of the new fiscal year. Two hundred physicians are examining pilots, while a force of 50 experienced aircraft and engine inspectors is being built up by the department.

The bureau of standards has started a study of methods of reducing airplane noises, strength of airplane joints and fittings and the stability of planes of different types. Many new radio aeronautics problems are on the program, to supplement progress already made in the investigation of radiotelephony, directive radio beacons and beacon markets.

Money Of Palestine On Decimal System In Three Languages

(International News Service)

JERUSALEM, Nov. 22.—With the scrapping of the Egyptian pound and the introduction of Palestine's own currency based on the Palestine pound equal in value to the English sterling but divided into one thousand mils Palestine may lead the way in revolutionizing the British currency if and when the agitation succeeds in favor of the decimal system as against the unwieldly system of English pence.

Palestine's new currency began circulating November 1 resulting in an outright saving of 2½ per cent the difference on a gold basis between the Egyptian pound in circulation since the British occupation in 1918 and the pound sterling.

The new money is in the three official languages of the country, English, Arabic and Hebrew and is being minted by the Palestine Currency Board in London. The board states that it will have ample funds to give a British found in London for each Pelestine pound offered in Jerusalem. The profit made on currency circulating in the country will not fall to Palestine instead of Egypt and assurances are given that the value of the new currency will always be maintained.

No Intense Suffering Seen In Mine Colony

By ROBERT W. GINSBURG
International News Service Staff Correspondent

RUSSELLTON, Pa., Nov. 22.—The striking Western Pennsylvania miners may be destitute, but there has been no intense suffering thus far, and prospects are they will spend a relatively comfortable winter.

This was the impression gathered here today when the writer, accompanied by Philip Murray, International Vice-President of the United Mine Workers of America, visited this community where the miners are living in barracks constructed by the Union. Approximately 155 families are in the barracks, and 250 others have made their homes in halls, churches, and private dwellings.

The barracks, single-story affairs 20 feet wide and 120 feet long, are constructed of single boards and lined with tar paper. Each structure contains twenty rooms 10 feet wide and 12 feet long. Each row is built on posts and is raised off the ground.

Crowded Quarters

Each family of six or less is given two rooms as their "home." A family of twelve or less rates three rooms while more than that, particularly if there are grown children, warrants a four room "house."

There are no bathrooms in the barracks. Water is obtained from three wells and a spring. Sanitation facilities have been provided a short distance from the living quarters.

But the miners and their families appear not to be mindful of the time they have been unemployed. All of them have been out of work eight months, and many have been on strike two years or more.

Little children playing about the temporary houses are full of smiles, and appear to be cheerful. John Rajnic, president of the local union, said the miners do not worry over the outcome of the strike.

"The miner is different than the average man," said Rajnic. "When times are good the miner is happy and spends his money freely, when the times are bad, he is just as happy if he only makes an occasional dollar."

The men, however, are keenly interested in strike conditions throughout the nation. One of the first question asked Murray on arrival here was an inquiry into general conditions.

The miners place every confidence in their leaders, and display the implicitness of their faith in them by seldom grumbling over their method of living, or questioning the procedure toward the ending of the strike, Murray explained.

Do Not Hibernate During Winter Warns State Health Secretary

(Special To The News)

HARRISBURG, Nov. 22.—"It is well to remember that men and women by nature are not hibernators. Bears can go into caves and remain inactive during the winter season because they are built that way. But human beings are quite different," said Dr. Theodore B. Appel, secretary of health, today.

"While there are many things that some animals do that could be well emulated by the human race, the habit of fleeing from the rigors of winter and going to sleep until spring certainly is not one of them. Yet, in effect, that is what thousands of people do. Sighing for the conclusion of winter, looking forward to springtime and taking one's exercise in a closed automobile are not exactly what nature intended or in reality demands.

"Many tired business men being deprived of their weekly golf are consequently now sitting in over-stuffed chairs with over-stuffed stomachs, and as likely as not, with over-stuffed minds. And they expect nature to keep them young, happy and healthy while they remain physically inactive hoping for better days.

"And what is true of men is equally true of many women. Winter means a full social calendar and an empty exercise program. It is scarcely to be wondered at, then, that people who lead a lazy physical life during the winter months and whose recreations are limited to indoor diversions are sorry when winter comes.

"Literally many thousands, upon the approach of frigid weather, pile on the coal, hug radiators—and hope for spring. This sort of thing is not only foolish, but may be positively harmful. It certainly is not conducive to a top-notch physical condition.

"Winter is one of the finest of seasons. The cold breezes and the sparkling atmosphere are full of life and health. But to become acquainted with the salutary powers of winter time through a window pane is to lose most of the fun and the joy of this period.

"Welcome the snow, the northern breezes and the biting frosts with wide open arms. Get acquainted with this wonderful season by bucking up and meeting it more than half way. If you need any inspiration look at the way your children or the children of others make use of winter. Nothing is more conducive to good health than a brisk two-mile walk on a cold day, especially if you walk it every day. The adaption of this little suggestion conceivably can change your whole attitude toward cold weather and change you also—from a grouchy, lazy unbeliever in winter's charms to an ardent disciple of the 'weather from the north'.

"Winter is a strong ally. Don't be afraid of it. It won't hurt you. It really wants to help. For the sheer joy of being alive and healthy, no season surpasses it. Step up to it and take it seriously by getting out into it frequently.

"Go to the movies if you like them, play bridge if you're fond of cards, read books by the lamp while the wind howls outside, if that appeals to you. But—don't hibernate!"

Offers Pair Of Socks For $2,000,000 Profit

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—In return for making him a profit in a stock deal, Sebastian S. Kresge, five and ten cent store operator, promised a member of a stock exchange firm a gift "as valuable as a hat or a pair of socks", it was disclosed in supreme court today.

Wallace Scott, a member of the firm of W. E. Hutton and Company, set out to win the prize. Scott, choosing the socks, said, "they will have to be very heavy as this city is very cold during the winter." Whether he won was not revealed. The agreement was revealed in correspondence between Kresge and Scott in October, 1922, read by Kresge's counsel in his $685,000 suit to recover 5700 shares of Kresge stock which he claims to have deposited with Hutton and Company.

Pollyanna Offers Great Chance To High School Stars

School Production To Be One Of Most Difficult As Yet Attempted

The theatre page of any metropolitan daily is an interesting commentary on the ideals of the men and women of that community. Whatever one may think about the kind of play and "movie" that attract the average seeker of amusement in the present generation, it is refreshing to reflect on the ever-repeated success of plays like "Peter Pan" and "Peg o' My Heart". Even in the "roaring Forties" of New York, when a great actress decides to interpret the heart of a child, her theatre is crowded.

One such actress is Helen Hayes, who is just now playing in the season's theatrical success in New York. This is the play, 'Coquette". The critics place her in the small group of actresses "who make the theatre a land of wonder, tears and pure delight." Recently she played in Barrie's "What Every Woman Knows" as only lovely Maude Adams had played before her. A number of years ago in the earlier days of her fame she chose as a vehicle for her genius the same play that New Castle people are to have a chance to see in the near future, George Tyler's stage version of "Pollyanna". Like "Peg o' My Heart", "Pollyanna" is the story of an unwlecome orphan child who radiates joy from her pinched, starved life, makes over the lives of the men and women amongst whom she drifts, and demonstrates anew that "a little child shall lead them." And this simple play has an unforgettable charm which gave it a successful two years in our great American Babylon.

We hear that Virginia Reeher and Dorothy Jean Wallace, who are on separate nights cast for the part of Pollyanna herself, have captured the secret of the "glad" spirit which has made the play one of the most popular comedies of the last decade. Hazel Barret is giving a delightful account of Nancy, the keen-witted and free-spoken Irish maid who undertakes to champion the friendless orphan child. She has real dramatic talent and will add no little to the assured success of this coming high school play.

Body Of Worker Found In River

AMBRIDGE, Pa., Nov. 22.—Coroner Harry M. McCarter is investigating the death of Charles Schell, 55, Thirteenth street, whose body was found in the Ohio river near Conway.

Schell was employed on a sand digger of the Pittsburgh Sand & Supply company. It is believed that while attempting to board the boat Sunday night he stumbled in the darkness and fell into the river. He was fully clothed.

His wife, two sons and a daughter reside in Millvale.

IF YOU HAD ONLY 2 YEARS TO LIVE!

How you would think, try, and spend all you possessed to cheat death, if you were told by some able physician you had but two years to live! Yet there are many readers of this paper who will not be alive two years hence. Why? Because they are going to neglect to properly cleanse their bowels and systems of the dangerous disease-producing poison wastes that bring on System Poisoning—professionally called Toxemia. And when their bowels don't act, they take some useless laxative water or cathartic pills that never reach the deadly bacteria that cling to intestinal lining, are absorbed by the blood and distributed throughout the system, to cause rheumatism and other destructive maladies.

But if you will take PARTOLA, the internal antiseptic and laxative, your chances are better. This pleasant system cleanser gets right at the poison wastes and toxins, drives them out, leaves you clean inside, ends constipation and, when taken regularly, helps digestion, improves health, encourages long life and preserves strength and energy. PARTOLA helps to keep your blood red by fighting off the poisons. All good druggists sell regular box 30¢, double size 50¢.

Stolen Auto Is Driven Past Home Of Owner

Wife Sees It, Calls Police And Machine Is Found

MERITZTOWN Nov. 22—Stealing a car in Allentown and then being discovered by a fellow townsman who owned it was the fate of James L. Alexander of this town. He is now in the Lehigh county jail in default of $1,000 bail. The auto is owned by Francis J. Hardner, secretary of the Lehigh Trades association. It was stolen from North Sixth street, Allentown. The Hardners reside on the Reading highway at Mertztown.

Mrs. Hardner noticed an automobile which she was sure belonged to her husband drive past the house on Thursday. When it happened again on Friday her belief was made more certain and she notified Highway Patrolman Walter Tooey. He traced the car to various places for almost two days and then located it in a garage near the home of the owner. Alexander had taken out the engine and was dismantling the body when discovered. The engine number had been obliterated.

Music To Feature Thanks Services

GROVE CITY, Pa., Nov. 22.—Special features are being planned for the annual union Thanksgiving service of the churches of Grove City Thursday morning at 10:30 in the First Presbyterian church.

Dr. Charles E. Petree, recently appointed pastor of the Grace Methodist church, will preach the Thanksgiving day sermon. Plans are being made for a union chorus choir and the music will be under the direction of A. H. Heinz of Columbus, O., who has been directing the music at the special evangelistic services in the United Presbyterian church during the past week.

Book Week Exhibit Still Open At Library

Because the librarians feel that many of the people who would be interested in their Book week exhibit have not yet had the chance to visit the library, they are holding the exhibit open until Thanksgiving. This will serve, the librarians think, to give the teachers and others whose time was taken up by the various school exhibits a chance to visit the library display.

"One of the most successful in all our annual exhibits" is the verdict given by Miss Helen Minick, childrens' librarian at the library when interviewed concerning the event. "We even have had 50 new titles added for the occasion which represents a considerable outlay of money. Then too, people have been more than interested in the work that we are doing. All through the week, we had many visitors and all of them had something favorable to say about the work which is being done in the library. And we wish them to know that we appreciate it."

One of the most charming of the books which have been added to the library in the past few days is an anthology, Singing Youth; Poems by Children; covering verse written by boys and girls from the ages of 5 to 16.

Perhaps the keynote of the volume is struck in the introductory poem written by Evans Krehbiel aged 4 and entitled Trees, quoted below:

The trees
Grow and blow
And walk in a row
Along the world.
If they grow too high
They will put God's eye
Out with their leaves.
I like trees.

Which, as one may judge, is worthy of the pen of A. A. Milne or to go to the other extreme, Carl Sandburg.

And so the volume goes on, really a most delightful thing but designed for grown ups rather than for youngsters.

Old Rescue Mission Gets New Building

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—The oldest rescue mission in the United States—founded 55 years ago by Jerry McAuley as a refuge for "the drunkard, the outcast and the what not"—formally received a new $100,000 building as the gift of John Markle, mine operator and philanthropist of Hazleton, Pa.

The McAuley Water Street mission marked acceptance of the four-story structure with ceremonies appropriate to an institution that has gathered thousands of men out of the gutters of the metropolis. Many of these men told the stories of their lives at the dedicatory exercises.

"THE GARDEN OF ALLAH" INTENSE, GRIPPING PLAY

Never has the city of New Castle viewed a motion picture as enthralling and as beautiful as "The Garden of Allah," which opens Thanksgiving at the Penn Theatre.

A pre-view supports the glowing praises of leading critics elsewhere that the picture is one of the most tense and gripping ever filmed. It seems certain to top the first ten pictures of the year.

It is not surprising therefore to find it credited to Rex Ingram, the great director who produced "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse," "Scaramouche," "Mare Nostrum" and other thundering dramas. He filmed it abroad for Metro-Goldwyn.

Enacting the principal roles in this new Ingram masterpiece coming to the Penn are names, with few exceptions, wholly new to America.

Alice Terry plays the leading feminine role and she is more beautiful, exquisite and divine than she has ever been before. A new side of her is shown in this picture—a melting humanity that will wind picturegoers around her aristocratic fingers.

Ivan Petrovich, Miss Terry's new leading man, is an astonishingly handsome, athletic actor. He has the dark complexion of Miss Terry's former leading men—Valentino, Novarro and Moreno—but a stronger face than any of these. He is beyond question Rex Ingram's greatest discovery since Valentino.

Others in the brilliant cast are Marcel Vibert, leading supporting role, H. Humberston Wright, Mme. Paquerette, Armand Dutertre, Ben Sadour, Gerald Fielding, Michael Powell, Basil Hambrough and Claude Fielding.

This picture's central idea is the struggle of conscience against passion. It is the story of a Trappist monk who vowed never to marry. He runs away from an Algerian monastery and despite his vows, marries an English girl unacquainted with his past.

The comedy is a whiz and what you want to see.

Road show music score afternoons and evenings. Admission 25c and 50c during this picture. The Penn orchestra will play at each performance.

His Voice Returns After Ten Years

New Jersey Veteran Regains Speech While Riding On Street Car

SEASIDE HEIGHTS, N. J., Nov. 22.—Voiceless for nearly ten years, Bert Stanwood a World War veteran of Seaside Heights, N. J., has regained the power of speech.

Stanwood's remarkable recovery began on Armistice night in Philadelphia where he had come to visit friends with whom he had served in the war. He was on a trolley car, Stanwood said, when he tasted what seemed to be blood flavored with mustard.

He broke into perspiration and became so weak he left the car and went to the office of a physician where to his utter astonishment he found he could speak a few husky words. The bleeding stopped he regained his strength and left the doctor's office.

Stanwood and his wife returned to their home where his improvement continued until now he has normal use of his voice.

The overjoyed veteran who was disabled by mustard gas during the war believes the gas formed a pocket in his throat and deprived him of the power of speech. He says the blood that came into his mouth Armistice night had the flavor of mustard.

Physicians at the United States Veterans hospital here however say this explanation is extremely unlikely. Loss of memory or loss of voice is often caused by shock they say and sometimes is restored in the same manner and it is possible the excitement of talking over war days with his old buddies restored Stanwood to his normal condition.

Mrs. Stanwood has a different theory. She believes her husband's recovery was in answer to the prayers she has sent up daily after specialists failed to help him.

MARATHON RACE FOR BOY SCOUTS

Plans are virtually completed for the winter activities of the Lawrence county council, Boy Scouts of America, beginning with the big marathon race to be held Thanksgiving morning. The course will be from the Burton Powder Company to the Scotland Lane school.

All troops are expected to participate in this elimination meet. At the same time the Ellwood City Scouts are to hold their elimination, and at a later date the Ellwood City champions will compete against the champions of New Castle for the title of Lawrence county.

Needlework Guild Aid Fast Being Distributed

When the News' scrivener makes his daily call on the Associated Charities, he is usually told that there is no news, nor is there any prospect for news; but this morning it was different, for he caught them, caught them bundling up clothes for one of their poorer families of New Castle.

"But it is not news," protested Miss Anna Gililland, under whose leadership the work goes on. "No, it is just a daily occurence. You know, the people have to be taken care of and the least that is said about it is the best. We do not like publicity here.

"But you might say that the Associated Charities are thankful, and many of the poor families are thankful, for the splendid gifts that we have received from the local chapter of the Needlework Guild. They have been very generous, and even now, great inroads have been made on the garments that they have given to us."

It is a sad story that Miss Gililland tells. But the usual story. Father out of work—sick—can't get a job—and a family to support, and so, she says, we must do something.

Four Trials May Be Required In Murder Charges

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Pa., Nov. 22—Judge Erwin Cummins today granted a separate trial on each murder charge for Robert Wenrich, 19 and brother, Roy, 31, alleged to have slain Paul Fox and Louis Knapp, coal and iron policemen at Vestaburg near Brownsville. Knepp was formerly of Kane, Pa.

The court's ruling means that four trials in all may be necessary, but if each of the brothers is found guilty and sentence of death only two trials will be needed.

Up to noon today seven talesmen, including two married women had been selected out of the panel of 35 prospective jurors. Work of selecting a jury was progresing slowly and the jury may not be completed until tomorrow.

The jurors picked so far are James L. Kelso, retired, Canonsburg; James M. Paxton, farmer, Chartiers township; John Gamble farmer Nottingham township; Mrs. W. W. Hixon, housewife, New Eagle; Thomas L. Calvert, plumber, East Finley township; E. F. Nicholan, salesman Charleroi and Mrs. S. I. Rigele, housewife, Charleroi.

Attorney W. C. McKean of Uniontown, Pa., has been retained by the Wenrich Brothers as their counsel.

Local Division Employes Win Safety Trophy

One of the most striking indications of the magnitude of the safety movement which is being fostered by the large industries today, is portrayed in the safety trophy on display in the window of the Lawrence Savings & Trust company, New Castle, Pa. Several years ago the officers of the Freedom Oil Work company, of which Percy L. Craig, New Castle, is president, announced that the company would give a safety trophy to the division which had the best "no accident" record for the year. This trophy given by the Freedom Oil Works company to be competed for monthly by the different divisions of the company.

The employes of the Freedom company who are engaged in the manufacturing and marketing of Freedom products are divided into six divisions, and the division having the best "no accident" record for one month holds the trophy for that period. The campaign which is known as the "Inter-Division Safety campaign" is run for one year, from June to July of the following year and the division holding the trophy the most number of times in the 12 months, retains permanent possession of it.

There are also 12 shields encircling the outer edge of the bronze which will bear the names of the winning divisions for each month of the campaign.

Division No. 1 was declared winner of this trophy for October. This division is composed of the local employes of the New Castle station, together with employes of the distributing stations in the Beaver valley and Sharon, Pa.

The local employes of the New Castle station, of which L. C. Smith, Beaver, is district manager, who played a large part in winning the trophy for their division during the month of October are Archie Rosenberg, manager; William J. Moore, salesman; Paul Edgerton and Paul G. Layton.

The Daybook OF A New Yorker

BY BURTON RASCOE

Exclusive Central Press Dispatch to New Castle News

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—Having been recently handed a check in a night club, which asked forty-seven dollars for four bottles of ginger ale and orders of chop suey, this story does not sound so good. Turkey, a noble fowl, is very popular in Broadway eating places and the other night I ordered a hot sandwich. Upon receiving the same, I found two slices of alleged turkey, barely separating the two slices of bread. It must have taken years to invent the machine that carved it. Without exaggeration, I was unable to pick the meat up with a fork, unless the former was supported by a piece of bread. My own quite plausible explanation for this is that the meat was thin enough to let the fork touch the hard plate before it touched the meat. That sounds complicated I know, but if you stop to figure it out, you'll admit it's a pretty fair gag for me. Anyway, I later paid a dollar for my sandwich.

We know some people who moved to the suburbs to secure a little peace and quiet. The husband is an artist who requires an extra room at home to use as a studio, the wife has a job which takes her into the city daily. They had a car which was expensive to keep in town, so they decided the ideal arrangement for them was to live in an apartment in a Westchester suburb about fifteen miles out, an apartment in a building a stone's throw from the station. A public garage faced this building directly across the street. They congratulated each other on the seeming convenience of their new living quarters, moved out, bought commutation tickets—and then began to suffer. They discovered the various noises made life unbearable. They had not minded greatly the incessant hum of town, the sound compounded of far off subway rumblings, elevated train ditto, the vast inarticulate and incessant din of the metropolitan street in which they had lived. But they could not endure the ever present noise of passing suburban trains, nor the hullaballo set up early each morning by the village taxi men in the garage just below their windows. Then the town began some street improvements, and an electric drill to bore through the old pavement was set in motion. Some blasting had to be done for new telephone cables. The young couple in complete despair paid the landlord $300 to let them out of their lease; they sold their car, because they determined to move back to town. And now they are packing up their goods, after one month's tenancy, to move back to the comparative quietude of the East Fifties. They moved out of New York seeking peace and quiet. They are moving back for the same reason.

Among other things New York seems to be a good place for the breeding of prodigies. It is the home of Nathalia Crane and of Elizabeth Benson, as well as of many musical geniuses. Elizabeth Benson is the twelve-year-old student at Barnard college whose treatise on "The Younger Generation" has just been published and was released on the same day that her mother's first novel, "Jackson Street" was placed on the stands. Elizabeth's mother is Anne Austin, the dissimilarity of the names being due to a divorce of the prodigy's parents. It will be remembered that Elizabeth "broke the scale" of an intelligence test contrived for superior adults.

New Castle Man Makes An Address

ROCHESTER, Pa., Nov. 22.—District Deputy P. J. Dempsey of New Castle made an address at the county committee meeting of the American Legion, held here yesterday. Officers were elected and arrangements made for the annual banquet.

JUST A COUGH BUT HE DIED

A man died in Massachusetts the other day from tuberculosis. But the history of the case showed that it all started with a cough that was neglected, went down and hung on. This Massachusetts man is only one of thousands who die in the same way—all unnecessary. Any doctor will tell you that tuberculosis, taken in time is curable in almost every case. He will also tell you that if not taken in time, you are doomed. Don't neglect that deep cough. Begin now with Murrmann's Compound, the approved and effective formula for lung coughs, asthma, bronchitis and all diseases of the respiratory organs. Murrmann's is not a common patent medicine. It contains no alcohol or any narcotic drugs. It is a healer of inflammed tissue and a tissue builder of known efficiency. At reliable druggists. If yours hasn't it he can quickly get it from the D. W. Price Co., Toledo, Ohio.

What's What in Washington

BY CHARLES P. STEWART

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Exclusive Central Press Dispatch to New Castle News.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—The old-fashioned lobbyist is extinct.

He used to be thick in Washington, and at state capitals, too, but of course the best specimens of him came here, as the most important place.

Gosh! but he was an evil influence!

His job was to get votes—no matter how. The supposition was that he bought 'em—corrupted lawmakers, out and out. Doing it without getting caught was the test of his efficiency.

Undoubtedly a lot of fiction is mixed with mighty little fact in the stories they tell of the old-fashioned lobbyist's accomplishments.

Naturally it was his game to brag about his "pull," in order to get folks to slip him dough, to lobby for their bills—or against bills they wanted killed.

Giving the impression that he had United States senators calling on him via the sewer pipe right along, to take his bribes and do what he said, was part of his stock in trade. Once he got his mitts on the dirty money, who was to know whether he kept it or passed it along?

Something like the green goods graft!—crooks were his customers, and if he double crossed 'em, they couldn't kick.

However, the chances are they never found out.

If, by accident, things went as the lobbyist promised, he took all the credit. If they went the other way, he explained that something had unavoidably gone wrong. Very likely he talked the suckers into trying again.

But those pikers are gone, to the last man.

Their grift's as dead as the gold brick game. Everybody's onto it.

If one of them should turn up today—they were a picturesque lot—you couldn't mistake 'em, with their frock coats and silk lids and near-diamond studs—they'd put him in the Smithsonian Museum—not in jail.

There's lobbying done in Washington now, but it's different.

Moreover, it isn't judicious to call it lobbying. It's an expression our present day bunch doesn't like, and they are not a healthy crowd to offend.

No, today's lobbyists aren't lobbyists. They're legislative superintendents, representing huge national associations, with headquarters in the capital—kept open the year around.

A legislative superintendent would no more make a crooked overture to a member of congress than he'd jump off the Washington Monument.

Nor does he "lobby," as he understands the term.

He explains. Kindly but firmly he makes congressmen and congressional committees understand things.

It behooves a member of congress to understand a man who speaks for a great national organization—and to understand him right.

Girl Of 12 Reels Off Shakespearian Parts

LONDON, Nov. 22.—Mary Casson, the 12-year-old daughter of Sybil Thorndike and Lewis Casson probably knows more Shakespearian roles than any other miss of her age.

And it isn't child roles in which she is letter perfect. By virtue of holding book on her father, mother and her uncle, Russell Thorndike all of whom are prominent on the stage she has learned the lines of Lady Macbeth, Shylock, Portia and a score of Shakespeare's other outstanding characters.

Little Miss Casson rehearses her parents when they are studying new roles.

Boy Scout News

Troop 16

Scout Executive J. Lee Calahan was present at the weekly meeting of the American Legion troop 16, which met at the Thaddeus Stevens school last night.

The chief feature of the meeting was that it was parents' night. A large number of the parents were in attendance and they showed splendid interest and enthusiasm in the work of the Scout troop.

Mr. Calahan was very much surprised to find the troop in the wonderful form that it is in because it is one of the newest troops in the city. The patrol system is being used, a regular opening and closing ceremony and the advancement of the troop is exceptional. The scoutmaster and the Scouts assured Mr. Calahan that they expect to win out in the coming round-up, and judging from the enthusiasm of the Scouts and their diligent practice, in all probability the entries from this troop will give the others a run for honor place.

The American Legion is to be congratulated for their choice of a scoutmaster. Mr. Hoye has proved one of the best scoutmasters in Lawrence county and during the course of the meeting last night the parents congratulated Mr. Hoye and commended him for his help to their boys.

Mr. Calahan wishes to express his appreciation to the American Legion, Ed. Hoye for his direct work, to the Scouts for their interest, and in particular to the parents for their backing.

GIRL IN KIRBY JURY FIXING TO SERVE 60 DAYS

Miss Burneson Is Held Guilty Of Contempt By Supreme Court

CLEVELAND, O., Nov. 22.—The last echo of the jury-fixing cases growing out of the trial of Josiah Kirby for misuse of the mails in connection with the operations of the Cleveland Discount Co. was heard yesterday when the United States supreme court refused to review the case of Miss Daisy L. Burneson.

Miss Burneson received the word without emotion and asserted there was nothing she could say about the matter now since the highest tribunal had given its opinion. She must serve 60 days in the Canton workhouse, imposed by Federal Judge John M. Killits on a contempt of court charge.

An appeal was taken to the circuit court of appeals at Cincinnati and that court sustained Judge Killits. Miss Burneson was held in contempt for an alleged attempt to prejudice the mind of Harry Smart, a prospective juror, in favor of the defendant Kirby. The government charged that Miss Burneson's acts constituted an obstruction of justice.

Kirby is now in the Atlanta penitentiary. All those charged with "obstructing justice" have paid the penalties imposed by Judge Killits, except Miss Burneson.

Librarians Must Answer Multitude Of Questions

From Greek myths to the telephone, from "Horatius at the Bridge" to airplanes, from cliff dwellers to Armistice day, all questions are but grist to the mills of the three young women who guide the destinies of the Young Idea of New Castle in the children's department of the public library.

"Where can we find something about Bible plays?" or "I want the 'Three Little Pigs' with illustrations," or "Who was Samuel Johnson—and why?" are but three of the many, many questions that are asked these young women, not only asked, but they are supposed to have answers on the tips of their tongues.

Almost the entire range of civilization is covered by the children in thier thirst after knowledge: ancient customs, middle age romances, early life in Virginia, schools of England, gypsies, Indians, colonial children, flags of Bulgaria and Roumania, diamond cutting, history of aesthetics, Washington, Lincoln, Roosevelt, Sir Henry Morton Stanley. In fact, everything one may wish.

The list is much too comprehensive to give in detail. Were it to be classified, and studied, the world would lay at one's feet. And so, brothers, the next time one tells you that the librarians have a soft job, gently but firmly press a brick to his head, for he doesn't know anything yet.

Since 1863 the Presidents have always issued proclamations appointing the last Thursday in November as Thanksgiving day.

Reports State Forests Are Much Improved

(Special To The News)

HARRISBURG Pa., Nov. 22.—The improvement operations conducted on the state forests by the Pennsylvania Department of Forests and Waters during the last four months have resulted in placing them in a very much improved condition and materially increasing their usefulness to those who use them for recreational purposes.

Alfred E. Rupp chief of the bureau of management reports that there are now 2,914 miles of state forest road in an improved condition. New roads were constructed and the old roads repaired by widening and grading. One of the district foresters who has been located in the same district for the past 20 years recently wrote Mr. Rupp as follows: "The state forest roads in many districts are now in a better condition than they have been at any time since I have been located here." This road building program has greatly increased the protection of the forests by permitting the rapid transportation of fire crews to various points where they are needed in the extinction of forest fires. There has also been made available to the public certain sections of the state forests which heretofore were inacessible and the improved roads now facilitate comfortable travel to and from many of the hunting camps located therein. In the construction of these roads $22,000 were expanded in the purchase of road machinery.

In addition to the road building program Mr. Rupp states that 2,755 miles of forest trails and fire lanes have been brushed out. These trails and fire lanes vary from four to eight feet in width, cleared of all sprout and weed growth and are used by the forest officers in combating forest fires. They also serve as a means of access into such remote sections of the state forest land where road building is impossible or impracticable.

The state-owned buildings occupied by the departmental personnel have been repaired and improved so as to make them more comfortable for living conditions. In some instances running water and bath rooms have been installed and the grounds surrounding the buildings graded and improved by the planting of trees and shrubbery. Many of the old buildings were dismantied and several new ones erected. Practically all of the state-owned buildings have been repainted.

During the year 130 additional permanent camp site leases have been granted which make a total today of 1,768 camp site leases on the state forests. This is the largest increase in permanent camp site leases of any previous year. The net return to the commonwealth from the rent of the permanent camp site leases on state forest land is $14,558 annually. There has been a decided improvement on the part of the lessee in the type and character of the buildings erected under the leases during the current year and a careful inventory shows that not less than $1,000 was expended on eacn of the new buildings erected on permanent camp sites. A conservative estimate of the number of people who used the state forests, such as sportsmen, tourists and visitors is 1,200,000 annually.

The board of commissioners is co-operating with the department of forests and waters in distributing brook trout in the streams located on the state forests. The fish are of good size, ranging from 3 to 5 inches in length and each forest district receives a pro rata allotment depending on the number and length of streams in their respective districts.

Indigestion

Immediate Relief!

What most people call indigestion is usually excess acid in the stomach. The food has soured. The instant remedy is an alkali which neutralizes acids. But don't use crude helps. Use what your doctor would advise.

The best help is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. For the 50 years since its invention it has remained standard with physicians. You will find nothing else so quick in its effect, so harmless, so efficient.

One tasteless spoonful in water neutralizes many times its volume in acid. The results are immediate, with no bad after-effects. Once you learn this fact, you will never deal with excess acid in the crude ways. Go learn—now—why this method is supreme.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. 25c and 50c a bottle—any drugstore.

"Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Company and its predecessor Charles H. Phillips since 1875.

Home-made Remedy Stops Cough Quickly

Finest cough medicine you ever used. Family supply easily made. Saves about $2.

You might be surprised to know that the best thing you can use for a severe cough, is a remedy which is easily prepared at home in just a few moments. It's cheap, but for prompt results it beats anything else you ever tried. Usually stops the ordinary cough or chest cold in 24 hours. Tastes pleasant—children like it, and it is pure and good.

Pour 2½ ounces of Pinex in a pint bottle; then fill it up with plain granulated sugar syrup. Or use clarified honey, instead of sugar syrup. Thus you make a full pint—a family supply—but costing no more than a small bottle of ready-made cough syrup.

And as a cough medicine, there is really nothing better to be had at any price. It goes right to the spot and gives quick, lasting relief. It promptly heals the inflamed membranes that line the throat and air passages, stops the annoying throat tickle, loosens the phlegm, and soon your cough stops entirely. Splendid, too, for bronchitis, hoarseness and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway pine extract and palatable guaiacol, famous for healing the membranes.

To avoid disappointment ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

STONE AGE STUFF

Bruno, the cave man, played in the woods when he was a child, hunted wild animals when he was older and then passed out of the picture. Judged by the standards of this airplane age Bruno wasn't very brilliant. But who is there to belittle Bruno? He made a fair living according to the standards of his day and that is about all anyone does today.

SHOCKING PROFESSORS

Jastrow, University of Wisconsin professor, shocks dull associates by his assertion that the mental equipment of the modern man is not much, if any, better than Bruno's. The comforts which we have and which Bruno lacked are chiefly the product of accumulating experience. The radio, automobile and antiques are our possessions because the men who link us to the Stone Age turned over to their sons and grandsons the fruits of their hard work.

ANGER LABORATORY

A Cleveland man tells reporters his vision of the day when we will have emotional tests. They will have to be better than intelligence tests. Perhaps the test should not be censured so much as the exaggerated claims made for it by money-crazy men offering their services as fancy-salaried employment experts to industrial giants.

If man ever learns to guage his pleasure and displeasure, want, fear and other emotions he will have an advantage over his competitor. Finding out how our various emotions stack up should prepare us for the crucial moments of life.

KNOWLEDGE NEEDED

We need to know more about our emotions. We need to know how to draw on our reservoir of reserve strength. Laughter helps. The famous tired business man who says vaudeville or musical comedy peps him up probably understands his emotions better than his critics realized.

THE LAMP IN THE WINDOW

Little Michael, 6-year-old king of Roumania, "put a lamp in the window, that his grandfather, 'up in the sky,' may see where his little boy is."

That is a pretty conception. A lamp in the window means that somebody is thinking of the one who is absent. It is a token of love. In early days in the United States, in sparsely settled districts, a light in the window was a beacon to the wanderer. Mothers set lamps there for their boys, who were out in the blackness of night. Mothers do not forget.

Electricity serves now. Electric buttons are easily found by the home-returning youngsters, but there is not connected with them the sweet significance of the lamp in the window.

County Underworld Makes Ready For Thanksgiving Dinner; Losses Are Great

MERCER, Pa., Nov. 22.—Chicken and turkey stealing reported from all parts of Mercer county in unusual quantities would indicate that the county underworld is making ready for Thanksgiving dinner to say nothing of selling the surplus turkeys stolen to dealers.

The number of thefts reported here to the district attorney leads that official and County Detective Leyshock to the belief that the stealing is the work of an organized band of thieves.

Farmers who have such losses should report them at once and in detail.

Fear of retribution on the part of the farmers which prompts them to minimize their report makes it hard to follow up the leads.

The first national English thanksgivings were offered at St. Paul's Cathedral for the defeat of the Spanish Armada, in 1588.

Lover of Highway and Byway

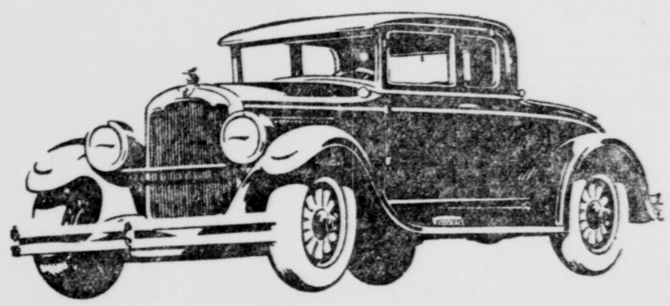

SHE loves them all, does the Reo Flying Cloud. Be it the spirit-level smoothness of Pennsylvania's concrete, or the lava-shingled trail of Nevada, she sweeps to meet them with that joyous thrill of motoring that only the Reo Flying Cloud gives.

Hour after hour, mile upon mile, day after day, those who drive a Reo Flying Cloud are learning the meaning of a "pleasure car."

Swung upon long, flexible springs, cradled by hydraulic shock absorbers, she irons out the bumps of every road. She has power for the hardest pulling and speed for the swiftest flight. Yet no matter how fast she is going, how treacherous the roadbed beneath you, she comes to a quick and gentle halt when you touch her velvet stop brakes.

WEST PITTSBURG SCHOOL.

Friday, November 18 was Visitors day at the West Pittsburg school. Patrons and friends were invited to spend all or part of the day at the school building and to observe the work of any and all classes. The regular schedule was followed and upon each door was a placard announcing the subject in which the class was reciting.

Pupils and teachers were gratified by the attendance of parents, friends and former students.

Visitors noted several features which were of especial interest. An art exhibit in the lower hall, the old service flag and roll of honor in a conspicuous place, a cot with clean linens and woolen cover for the use of pupils who become ill while in school, a row of attractive and practical looking waste baskets made by seventh and eighth grade pupils, a collection of almost two dozen photographs including the Salute to the Flag, Physical Training activities and a group of pictures of pupils in the different rooms, active attention and immediate response of pupils in all classes.

All parents would do well to visit the school at their earliest convenience. It is well known that persons interested in the welfare and progress of the children are welcome there at any time.

Woman Probation Cop In England Concludes 501 "Peace Treaties"

(International News Service)

NOTTINGHAM, England, Nov. 22.—The authoress of 501 "peace treaties" in a single year has just been complimented by the city of Nottingham.

This remarkable record of diplomacy belongs to a woman "probation oiffcer". She has, of course, had a few reverses in which "hostilities" between the warring parties have been resumed, but there have been 1,002 people who have never regretted their particular "armistice day".

A year ago it was arranged that Mrs. Sinclair should personally see all applicants for matrimonial separation and discuss their troubles with them. Her success as a reconcier of domestic differences has saved innumerable homes.

THE SIOUX WERE NOMADIC INDIANS. THEY ROAMED THE PLAINS, FOLLOWING THE GREAT HERDS OF BUFFALO AS THEY MIGRATED FROM PLACE TO PLACE. THEY HAD NO DOMESTIC ANIMALS BUT DOGS, WHICH THEY USED FOR FOOD AND FOR HUNTING.

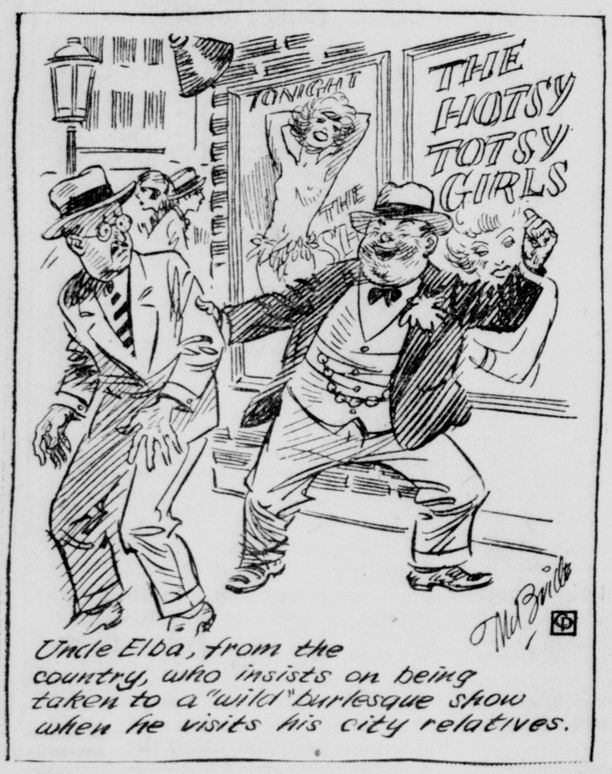

BEFORE THE COMING OF THE SPANISH "CONQUISTADORES" THERE WERE NO HORSES IN AMERICA. DURING CORONADO'S MARCH THROUGH THE WEST, SOME OF HIS STEEDS STRAYED AWAY AND WERE LOST. THEY MULTIPLIED RAPIDLY, AND SOON MANY WILD HORSES COULD BE FOUND ON THE PRAIRIES.

CITY FLOOR LEAGUE ORGANIZED HERE

Loop To Contain Six Fast Teams

Plan For Fast City League To Supplant Former Industrial Circuit

OFFICERS NAMED FOR ENSUING YEAR

New Castle is going to have a fast city basketball league this winter, is the word being passed along today. Organization of a six-team circuit was effected at the Y. M. C. A. on Monday night.

The plans call for one of the fastest loops ever in effect here, and with no restrictions on any of the teams. It is the intention of the officers of the league that the teams may select any player they desire to strengthen their squad, and in this manner it is expected that a whirlwind circuit will be the outcome.

At a meeting of the enthusiasts and managers of the various teams held on Monday night at the Y. M. C. A. officers for the year were elected and also a board of commissioners. Alec Samuels, the energetic south side youth, was named as president of the circuit; Charles "Bugs" Waltner, assistant sports editor of the News, was elected as vice president; Henry McNicholas, assistant physical director of the Y. M. C. A., was named as secretary-treasurer. The board of commissioners is Walter E. Kirker, Edward Geasa and Alec Samuels.

Six Teams Represented.

The following teams were represented at the meeting: Rick-Overlands, Glenn Doerr; B. & O., Ray Nolte; Liberty Five, Tony Tino; Marshall Billiards, Pete Costello; East Side Merchants, Fred McLure; Penn-State Auto Service, Jack Reider. It is also known that the Troop B and Flint Motors teams would like to join the league, but no action was taken relative to increasing the circuit to eight teams.

The next meeting of the league will be held at the Y. M. C. A. on Monday night, November 28, at which time plans will be made for the opening of the league and also entrance fees received. It is planned to start the league possibly the second week in December.

By making the league an open affair and by doing away with player restrictions, it is hoped that the circuit will be a fast one, and one of the best that has ever been attempted here.

The city league will supplant the industrial league which has been in vogue here for many years.

Plays Last Game On Thanksgiving

CHARLES RICHARDS

Here is Charles "Tippy" Richards, captain of the New Castle High school football team for 1927, who will wind up his scholastic gridiron career on Thanksgiving day in the game with Washington High. Thursday afternoon he will don the moleskins for the last time.

Richards has been on the high school squad for the past three years and is rated as one of the best halfbacks in this section of the state. It was in recognition of his valiant work last year that the boys elected him leader of the 1927 team, and he has filled the bill quite well.

Being used in the capacity of an interferer this year, his work has not been as spectacular as some of the other backfield men, but nevertheless the scrappy leader has made his presence known in the big games. New Castle High loses a truly fine, clean living athlete by graduation next June, and a man whose shoes are going to be hard to fill.

Carnegie Tech Eleven On Way To West Coast

Tech Will Play Oregon State At Portland On Saturday Afternoon

(International News Service)

DENVER, Nov. 22.—Carnegie Tech football players on their way to Portland, Ore., where they meet the Oregon State team Saturday, were scheduled to arrive in Salt Lake City today after taking a workout in the University of Denver stadium here yesterday afternoon. Another workout is planned for Salt Lake City.

Because four regulars are out of the lineup, Tech coaches were anything but optimistic over the outcome of their game with the Western Coast eleven.

Twin Cities Team To Play Penn-State Boys Here Saturday

The Penn-State Auto Service football team will play the Twin Cities eleven at Ben Franklin field on Saturday, November 26, it was announced today.

The Twin Cities team is composed of former high school and college stars, in Sharon and vicinity. "Bill" Cribbs, former Grove City college star, is with the Twin Cities team.

The Cooksey Express team of Youngstown is desirous of scheduling floor games. For games write to Joe Wepershall, 63 N. Truesdale avenue, Youngstown, O.

Washington To Send Strong Team Here For Thanksgiving Battle

New Castle High Football Team Hopes To Keep League Record Unmarred

Reception And Dance For Washington Students In Scottish Rite Cathedral

New Castle high football team, undefeated in their four W. P. I. A. L. contests this year, may experience some little difficulty in emerging victorious Thursday in their battle with Washington high, was the forerunner today.

In former years the Washington high team has been in the thick of the league fight for schoolboy honors, but their two setbacks this season at the hands of Norwin and Jeannette gives them a second rating.

The football contest here Thanksgiving day shapes up as one of the bright spots on the locals' schedule, it it should be one of the best games of the entire year.

According to word received here from Washington, the town will send about 1,000 students and fans to New Castle for the conflict. A special train has been chartered, it is said, and reservations are going fast.

The New Castle officials are doing everything within their power to extend a sportsmanship welcome to the Washington visitors. A big reception and dance is being planned for the Scottish Rite cathedral for Thanksgiving night. The affair will start at 8 o'clock in order to allow the Washington folks to board their special train here not later than 11:30 o'clock.

The admission to the Thanksgiving day game is $1 and an additional 50 cents if reserved seats are desired. The additional cost of bringing Washington high here caused the change in price.

The game will start at 2:30 o'clock. The scene of the contest is Ben Franklin high stadium and indications point to a record breaking throng.

Elect Neal Captain Of Wilmington High

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Nov. 22.—In a meeting held here yesterday noon in the high school building the lettermen of the 1927 football team elected Robert Neal, star quarterback of the team, for next year's captain.

Of the 15 lettermen who voted for captain, seven are seniors and have played their last game for the college town high school eleven. These men are: Don Davis, (capt.), Bob Herriott, Cal Rose, the Rudolph brothers, Wesley McCrumb and Collins Greer.

The other men who received the football awards as members of this year's team were: Robert Neal, (captain-elect), Nelson Greer, Dar Hartwell, Edwin McConnell, John Scholler, Howard Eagleson, and James Cheers. These men will form the nucleus for next year's team.

Navy Team Has Hopes For Wet Slippery Field

Naval Academy Team Becoming Adept At Playing On Wet Soggy Field

(International News Service)

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Nov. 22.—The Navy today was offering up gentle prayers for a bit of rain Saturday. Not because the Navy's business is generally wet, but because the Middies feel they have become exceedingly adept under wet ball conditions. Training, much of the season, has been under dripping skies and on a soggy field, while several of its major contests have had similar scenic background.

Today's training session was no exception. The field was heavy and the ball somewhat waterlogged.

Dummy scrimmage and signal drill has entirely replaced any heavy line scrimmage with its possibilities of injuries, and the first, string backs Hannegan, Ransford and Clifton, were hard at work over new formations.

Possible change in the regular line was foreseen today in the official favor being bestowed upon Fred Beans, sub left end. Beans has developed so rapidly that speculation has been replacing Ted Sloane, former Drake star, at that position against the Army Saturday.

Army Eleven Is Working At Night For Navy Battle

Huge Flood Lights Illuminate Field For Night Practice At West Point

(International News Service)

WEST POINT, Nov. 22.—With electric flood lights set up for secret night drill, the Army today began taking its grooming for the Navy classic Saturday with considerable seriousness.

Monday's session found few of the regulars in action, but the reserves had a hard day. The coaches were openly displeased with the scrub showing against Ursinus Saturday.

With Nave back at his quarter position today—his first appearance for scrimmage since the Notre Dame game—the Army mentors expressed satisfaction for the first time in years with the outlook in general.

In previous seasons doubt has remained until almost the hour of the game as to candidates for one or more positions. Today the Army's line-up is secure.

And to safeguard the "blessing" coaches announced that no heavy scrimmage would be held during the week. Light tussles with extensive ball toting drill and signal work will occupy the large part of training sessions.

Fresco Thompson Plans To Retire From Baseball

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 22.—Fresco Thompson, the scrappy second baseman of the Phillies has retired from baseball according to word reaching here today from the star's home at St. Louis. The reports have it that Thompson has purchased a big share in the J. C. Penny chain-store company and will go into the business with his father, who plays a prominent part in the organization.

Pitt-State Battle Thursday May Upset Gridiron Dopesters

Indications Point To Real Tussle in Pitt Stadium For Thanksgiving

Eastern Football Teams In Mad Scramble For Recognition This Season

By REGIS CURRAN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 22—The whirling football season in the east continues to whirl, and in the center are those two powerful western Pennsylvania colleges, Pittsburgh and Washington-Jefferson, whose tie game with each other is the only spatter of dirt on an otherwise immaculate shirt-front, which word is very figurative for "record".

But a big explosion on Thanksgiving day—Thursday of this week, for those who are not up in their thanksgivings—is in prospect. The possible blast may upset the eastern standing.

For on that day, Pitt meets Penn State and New York U meets Nebraska. Both Pitt and N. Y. U. are undefeated, while Penn State has only one defeat which is labeled a mistake. Nebraska has suffered only two setbacks, one called a fluke and the other by Pitt.

Yale is the team which is still being picked by the east's experts as just about the best in the eastern trench. This selection despite the fact that Yale has been defeated once, by Georgia. Yale recovered from the Georgia knockout and defeated, among others, Dartmouth and Army, wherein lies the chief reason for Yale's high rating. The Eli's latest victim was John Harvard, waylaid and beaten 14-0 last Saturday.

New York U has two ties but no defeats and is horning in on everybody's claims in the east. The New Yorkers' latest victim was one from this section, Allegheny, which was smothered under a score said to be 81-0 when the scorekeepers refused to scorekeep, as the gas was finished at that figure.

W. & J. Favored.

The sad case of Geneva with one tie but no defeats is still at hand. One reason for withholding great honors from the Genevans is the belief that their schedule was not quite so impressive as it might have been. Then again, the tie game was played with Bucknell, which was defeated by the Army, Wash-Jeff and Temple. This ends the story of Geneva, a western Pennsylvania college which last Saturday gave Thiel a most terrific lashing, 67-6.

Wash-Jeff's chances this week are brighter than Pitt's. The Presidents play one of West Virginia's weakest teams ever, and are expected not to lose.

Pitt, however, meets Penn State. The Lions' defeat by Bucknell is now considered as one of those skeletons in the family closet classed as regretable incidents. Since the Bucknell debacle, the State boys have cleaned up Penn, Syracuse, Lafayette, George Washington and tied the unbeaten New York U.

So if Pitt defeats Penn State, the boys from Pittsburgh can crow, cackle, claim sing first tenor or do whatever they want to in connection with the eastern mythical title. And Wash-Jeff can also sing first tenor in that event for they are the lads who tied the Panther.

Just by way of adding another paragraph, the fans here today still were acclaiming the Detroit lateral pass attack, a clever thing and one of the reasons Tech was beaten 12-6; Bethany's 7-0 defeat of Waynesburg was a surprise and Duquesne's 13-12 loss to Ashland, O., was considered very unfortunate and close.

Overlands Play Erie Quintet At "Y" On Thursday

The Rick-Overland basketball team is busy preparing for the opening game of the year at the Y. M. C. A. on Thursday night, when they tackle the Erie "Tenth" team. The game will start at 8:30 o'clock following a preliminary game.

The Liberty Five junior champions last year will likely meet the Goffs of Beaver Falls in the first game of the double-program at 7:15 o'clock.

With Cuba lost to the team this year the Overlands have added Bruce Franklin former High School star and Ronald McCoy to their lineup. The roster of the Overlands this year will find either McCoy or Franklin at forward. Hank Nocera, at forward, Hoyland or Uhle at center, Jones and Volesko at the guards.

Walker Favored Over Berlenbach

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Nov. 22.—Mickey Walker, world's middleweight champion, who meets Paul Berlenbach, former light heavyweight title holder, in the main go at the Coliseum Friday night, was quoted a slight favorite on the "bet" curb today.

SORDS POINTS

Old Rabbit, Relic Of Famous Braves, Still Hanging 'Round

Rabbit Maranville, recently rescued from the International league to aid in bolstering the faltering St. Louis Cardinals, is about the last of that gallant band which tore the National league wide open in the hectic summer of 1914 and won the first and last National pennant for Boston.

The story is now a legend of baseball—how the Boston Braves, despised occupants of the National league cellar up to the middle of the campaign, suddenly began the most amazing dash the major leagues ever saw.

Up went the Braves, up, up and up from eighth to seventh to sixth, into the first division, up, up and up to the top and into the world series where waited the great and glorious Philadelphia Athletics. The Braves were going so fast they didn't have time to stop and be awed by the Mackian might, but tore through that series, winning four straight games and the world championship.

And now only Rabbit Maranville remains. Gone is the great infield of Butch Schmidt, Johnny Evers and Charley Deal. Gone is the great outfield which boasted Cather, Connolly and Moran. Dick Rudolph, Big Bill James and Lefty Tyler were the pitchers while Hank Gowdy caught.

George Stallings, the Braves' manager and first "miracle man" of baseball, is also out of the big leagues. He recently resigned as manager of the Rochester International league club to "rest up" at least a year.

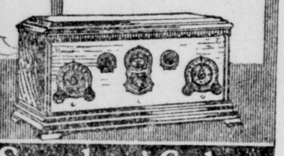

Rudolph recently pitched in a game against Cincinnati, but his showing was such that he is not likely to be called upon for much more duty in the big time and can hardly be called active.

Maranville showed enough of his old time stuff while with Rochester in the International that he looks like a fair bet with the Cards. He may be old as baseball men go, but he is also baseball wise and brains matured on the diamond are often more valuable than youth and springy muscles.

Maranville's specialty is snagging pop flies

Coast Eleven Heads East To Battle "Irish"

Southern California Team Boards Train For Chicago Game Saturday

HOPE TO UPSET ROCKNE MACHINE

By JACK JAMES
International News Service Special Correspondent.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Nov. 22.—Thirty-three young Trojan stalwarts, girt for battle and prepared for any eventuality, marked time today awaiting the word of command which would send them off on their invasion of the land of the Irish, and the southland viewed their imminent departure with mixed emotions. They play Notre Dame at Chicago on Saturday afternoon.

For, though 33 young Trojan stalwarts were prepared to hike eastward, to do or die for dear old alma mater, tried and true, there was one young stalwart, and perhaps the noblest Trojan of them all, left behind, flat on his back on a hospital cot. Don Williams is that noblest Trojan.

He was taken off the field of battle last Saturday suffering from a bruise across the small of his back. A thorough examination disclosed a broken vertebrae, and that meant no more football.

So today the Trojan cohorts are heading eastward minus the services of their best backfield threat—Morley Drury is a certainty, rather than a threat—just when he is needed most.

With Don Williams at quarterback and Morley Drury at fullback, Coach Howard Jones had at his command perhaps the most proficient ball-lugging combination in the far west. Williams seemed to instill extra drive and power in the Trojan machine. He was like a dash of ether in the gas tank—potent while he lasted. Because of hard playing and consequent injuries in high school days, Williams was good for only about fifteen minutes of hard football.

Southern California loyalists, both collegiate and civic, were prepared to give the team a great send off tonight. The Trojan band cannot go to Chicago, but it will at least go to the Southern Pacific station for one final big toot. The official party consists of some 100 persons, 33 athletes, Coach Jones and his assistant and university officials.

All things being equal—which means "weather conditions being fair and equable"—Southern California stands a mighty chance of knocking over Rockne's imposing edifice. It can be done, as the Southern California Trojan knows full well. The Trojans had 'em. Knocked off a year ago. Trouble was, the Irish didn't stay knocked. This time they're more apt to, for they will be up against a hardier, more powerful harder-fighting and more versatile football team.

Even so, the addicts in these parts could but wish today that Don Williams were able to pick up his bed and walk!

Lion Grid Team Has No Fear Of 13 In Score Book

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Nov. 22. — Although the number 13 was once sufficient to mar a perfect football season, yet it hold no terrors for the Larruping Lions from the Nittany Mountains. Thirteen has figured in the score five times this season in Penn State games. Three opponents have scored 13 points on the Lions, and the Bezdekians have retaliated with the same score on two occasions.

One place in which the unlucky number—or lucky number—is missing is in the Penn State roster. Numbers begin with 20, that assigned to Johnny Roepke, and which he has shown to so many tacklers as he dodged past them.

With 13 showing so often in the calculations, the Lion hopes that it will repeat again Thursday, when they play Pitt at the Pitt stadium. Thirteen to nothing would suit most of the Lion rooters, but many of them would be satisfied with a 13-12 score, providing the Penn State eleven is on the long end of the matter.

SPORTS DONE BROWN

By NORMAN E. BROWN
Exclusive Central Press Dispatch to New Castle News.

ROAMING AT LARGE, Nov. 22. — A day or two in the Osage Hills where Indians once stalked their game—including the white men—and where the few remaining ones—Indians that is—now live in ease and luxury from royalties from the oil resources of the state. Fat and happy now. No gaunt, half starved, pursued look about them. Indian flappers with the latest satin pumps—and old blankets.

Memories of Jim Thorpe, Tom Longboat, Soxalexis and other great Indian athletes down to Tiny Roebuck, John Levi and others of the recent years.

Thorpe hails from that section of the country.

"Baseball players are funny things," remarked a former major league manager to me the other day. We were discussing the recent managerial changes in the big show and the prospect of others.

"That's why most of them fail as managers.

"What I mean is that the outsider can't tell by looking at a player's uniform and his life-time record what kind of a manager he'll make.

"Take the case of one of the game's greatest infielders. He has had a brilliant career—is rated as one of the headiest ball players the game has ever produced. Yet everyone on the inside of baseball—knowing him—knows that he would not last as a manager. That is why he has never received a chance. The teams he has played with have changed pilots several times and fans have heard rumors each time that he might be given the job, only to see him passed up.

"The reason is that he is continually riding and roughing his own teammates as a private. It's impossible for him to change. A manager must have the respect and confidence of his players if he has nothing else.

"One of the game's best outfielders has been mentioned at times for a managerial berth but each time it has been made apparent quickly that his appointment would bring a near revolt on the team.

"On the other hand, many of the most successful major league pilots were never great ball players.

"Joe Cantillon, veteran minor league pilot, who managed Washington in the early days of the American League, is ranked as a mighty shrewd manager. Yet he never played big league ball.

"Joe McCarthy, Cub manager, is another example of a man lifted out of the minor leagues where he won fam as a pilot, not as a player.

"And, incidentally, there are some good men in the game today who would make capable pilots, I believe, if given a chance. They are not self assertive enough to thrust themselves forward but they are fitted temperamentally and by their knowledge of the game to take a whirl at it."

A brief stop at Sapulpa, which boast of having produced Carl Morris, the Sapulpa Giant, and considerable oil. Carl rode the high waves in fistic popularity at one time while the world was waiting for the white hope sunrise. Never quite made the grade, however.

Muskogee, where Willis Hudlin, one of the outstanding young pitchers of the major leagues last season, is wintering with his little bride and waiting to stand the league on its head again next season.

Folks out in this territory hope that Gene Tunney, world's heavyweight champion by virtue of two point decisions over Jack Dempsey, is really and truly angry at Tex Rickard.

So made that he'll run right out of New York and come clear out here to fight. Will have to run farther than he did last time he got peeved at Rickard. For Tex pursued him clear to Chicago and gave him close to a million bucks for being peeved—and boxing a few rounds.

Maybe if Tunney scowls still more fiercely Rickard will take him to the Pacific Coast and give him two million.

All of Gene's lessons in psychology, credit accounting and beauty culture will go for naught if he so far forgets himself as to cheat himself out of another fight or two under Rickard.

They Meet Thursday — By Feg Murray

Copyright, 1927 by Metropolitan Newspaper Service

One of the feature Turkey Day gridiron tussles each year is the combat between the Lion of Penn State and the Panther of Pittsburgh. This year the two teams meet in the Smoky City, and the Lion goes there eager to avenge the 24 to 6 defeat he suffered at the hands of the Panther in 1926.

The Pittsburgh team has no Waner brothers, but it has the marvelous "Gibby" Welch, who, in some ways, is a combination of the famous duo who helped the Pirates win the National league pennant. "Gibby" Welch though handicapped by injuries, was one of the outstanding players in the western Pennsylvania district last year, and, as all the world knows, they play real, he-man football in western Pennsylvania. He ranked with such stars as Amos of W. & J., Donohue and Harpster of Carnegie Tech and Flenniken of Geneva, and this year has been even better as captain of "Jock" Sutherland's team. The fleet, versatile halfback starred in most of his team's victories this season, and if he comes through with a fine game on Thursday, he should be in line for all-star honors.

The chunky Dutchman whose face appears in the circle below Capt. Welch is one of the foxiest coaches in the business, and a man who seems to be coming back into his own after a disastrous season last year. "Count Hugo de Bez" used to be the battering ram of University of Chicago football, back in 1905. In 1916, as coach of the Oregon university team, he beat a strong Penn team at Pasadena on New Year's day. This fall his 20-0 defeat of Penn was one of the surprises of the season.

Feg Murray Says—

My poet friend says he would write a poem about the University of Michigan team, but he can't think of anything to rhyme with Pucklewartz.

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—Jack Kearns loser in his first legal skirmish with Jack Dempsey, was scheduled to leave for Chicago today where he will engage in the business of piloting Middleweight Champion Mickey Walker safely through his bout with Paul Berlenbach Friday night.

Day May Call Signals In Game Against Thiel

GROVE CITY, Pa., Nov. 22 — Coach Berry has had several players calling signals this fall for the crimson eleven. Even Captain "Jim" McConnell called plays in a game or two from his center position. The last player to be given this important assignment is Ralph Day, formerly New Castle High School and Kiski quarterback. In all probability Day will call the plays in the Thiel game on Thanksgiving. His experience as a field general under Coaches Bridenbaugh of New Castle and Marks of Kiski qualifies him for the job better than any other crimson player possible.

Unless the Grove City offense has more power than it displayed against Geneva three weeks ago, Berry's team may find considerable difficulty in gaining much ground against the big and strong Thiel line. Two of the Lutheran players, Dimperio and Leonard, attended the crimson training camp two years ago for a few days and the older Grove City players know their ability. Both players looked especially good during their short stay at Grove City. Considering that Leonard is not a regular under Coach "Tommy" Holleran, crimson players are realizing that there must be some good men on the Thiel line.

Man Completing Cycle From Ape To Angel Is Belief Of Scientist

(International News Service)

SYDNEY, Australia, Nov. 22—"That man is completing the cycle from ape to angel," is the belief of Sir William Dawkins, scientist.

Rev. T. E. Ruth, at a recent meeting declared: "I accept the doctrine of Sir William Dawkins. I prefer to think that man is advancing towards the angels rather than degenerating from Adam to hell. I think that the human race is rising, not falling, the opponents of the evolutionary theory have nothing better to tell us than the human race is getting worse, and presently must be destroyed. Personally, I would rather be an ape, with a chance of being an angel, than Adam with the certainty of being lost."

I've just got to tell somebody

NO, I'M not going to be married. Neither have I fallen heir to a lot of money. But I have discovered the one tobacco that makes a pipe come through a thousand per cent—Prince Albert!

Yes, Sir, Prince Albert—the world's largest-selling brand. I was sitting with a fellow-commuter the other morning, when he was filling his pipe from a bright-red tin. I got a whiff of that tobacco and said: "Do you mind if I borrow a load?" He passed the tin over, and I filled up and lighted up.

I never tasted anything so good in my life. It was wonderfully cool and sweet, with a mildness I had never met before in a pipe-tobacco. Mild, as I say, yet it had that rich, rare body that put satisfaction into every pull. What a taste!

I could hardly wait till the train pulled in to get me a supply. I've smoked enough of this cool, mild, long-burning tobacco to know that it gives you deep-down contentment in every load. Try Prince Albert. You'll say so!

You get quantity, too, with P. A.—TWO full ounces in every tin.

PRINCE ALBERT

—no other tobacco is like it!

Brasco, evangelist, preached a forceful sermon Monday evening on "The Contrast Between the Believer in Heaven and on Earth." This evening he will speak on "The Perfection of the Scripture."

Rotarians Guests At Westminster College

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Nov. 22.—More than 150 members of the New Castle and New Wilmington Rotary clubs, together with faculty men of Westminster, were entertained with a turkey dinner Monday evening at Hillside, residence hall for women. The Rotarians were guests of President W. Charles Wallace and the college.

Dr. Charles A. Dawson, head of the department of English, acted as director of activities, while Graduate Manager A. R. McDonald led the group singing.

A special feature of the music was a group song by the members of the New Castle club under the direction of H. S. Christman.

A welcome to the Rotarians was given by Dr. Wallace while W. W. Campbell, speaking for the New Wilmington club, and "Welty Rugh" representing the New Castle men, thanked President Wallace and expressed the appreciation of their groups.

During the meal a double quartet composed of eight Westminster students sang a number of selections. Miss Victoria Luca played a number of solos on the violin and Miss Gladys Zeigler played piano solos.

Following the banquet, the men were guests of Coach John Lawther and his basketball squad in the gymnasium.

Centre Charity Efforts In City On Christmas Day

There will be no organized giving by the charitable institutions of New Castle this Thanksgiving season, partly because they wish to concentrate their efforts on Christmas, and partly because they feel that the private individual and the small organization like the Sabbath school class can take care of the donations much better.

However, a few groceries may be distributed through the courtesy of the Associated Charities, and the Salvation Army may give away a few baskets of food.

Concentration on Christmas seems to be the aim of every charitable organization in the city.

Corns

Stop Hurting Instantly

then Lift Right Off!

Drop "Freezone" on that aching corn. Instantly it stops hurting; then shortly you lift the corn right off with your fingers. You'll laugh, really! It is so easy and doesn't hurt one bit! Works like a charm, every time.

A tiny bottle of "Freezone" costs only a few cents at any drug store, and is sufficient to remove every hard corn, soft corn, and callouses. Try it!

PA NEWC OBSERVES

Pedestrians in the vicinity of Grant and Mercer streets recently were surprised to see a large squirrel climbing around on the branches of the trees in that locality.

Distributions of food and other things to the poor of the city at this Thanksgiving period will be confined to work of individuals and of church organizations this year, there being no arrangements by any organization for any general distribution this week.

Councilman-elect C. H. Reeves has the right idea. He is attending the present council sessions voluntarily, in order to become familiar with his duties when he assumes office in January. Mr. Reeves will no doubt sit through the budget making sessions of the present council next month. It is in the work of budget making that the councilmen get their real idea as to their task.

Capt. M. L. Craig, of the officers' reserve organization here has his eye on a seat in the Polo grounds on Saturday. He intends to go down to New York to watch the Army trim the Navy.

Arrangements are being made in many New Castle homes for Thanksgiving day reunions. Many college students will be home from school for the holiday and in other homes there are reunions being planned which are the annual get-together.

Persons planning to take to the woods for hunting expeditions on Thursday would do well to remember that safety first should be given every emphasis. There have been an unusually large number of tragedies during the present hunting season.

Today is butchering day on the farms and turkeys and chickens are being prepared for the Thanksgiving markets. Only a few farmers in this locality raise turkeys for the market but practically all raise chickens.

Printer Telegraph Machines In Use By Western Union

The romance of the telegraph wire is gone, at least as far as the ticking of messages to all parts of the world from New Castle by Western Union is concerned.

Through the installation of what is known as the Simplex printing telegraph system, the messages are sent and received at the local office of that company through the simple expedient of what is to all intents and purposes a typewriter hitched up to a wire which connects with Pittsburgh and is charged with sufficient electric energy to impart the impulses of each key of the typewriter here to another typewriter in the other city and cause the keys of the other machine to print the message on the dry side of gummed paper tape. This tape is pasted on the regulation message sheet and sent to the person to whom the message is addressed. There is a receiving machine here, as well as a sending machine.

It is no longer necessary for the operator of a telegraph office of the Western Union in cities of this size and larger to know the Morse telegraph system. All that is now necessary is a knowledge of the operation of a typewriter. Most of the operators of the new system will be young ladies.

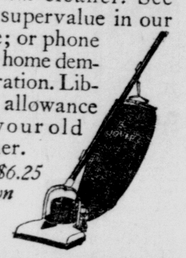

According to Leroy Mardis, local manager of the Western Union, all delay in the sending of messages has been eliminated and a message can now be sent twice as fast as formerly. John Piazza, formerly operator here, is the supervisor in charge of the Simplex machines here.
